Tension Easing in Venezuelan Crisis

Junta Apparently in Control After Night of Terrorism

Caracas — The threat of a counterblast against Venezuela's revolutionary government eased off today. After a night of tension, the ruling junta appeared to have re-established order.

Reports that diehard supporters of former Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez were preparing to move against the junta put the nation on edge last night.

But as the hours passed there were indications the people, groggy with new found freedom, were strongly backing the junta. Civilians were risking their lives to help authorities route Perez Jimenez bands still spreading terror across the land.

Peron to Leave

Backers of the old regime sped in cars through the streets of Caracas and other cities last night firing machine guns indiscriminately at civilians, troops and national guardsmen. One woman was killed and about 10 persons wounded.

Apprehension increased as the ruling junta went into emergency session last night and armored cars appeared on the capital streets. All persons were warned to stay indoors during the dusk to dawn curfew.

The junta proclaimed its armed forces in full control. But peace and order remained in peril until all diehard supporters of Perez Jimenez were rounded up throughout the country.

Authorities, breathed more easily, however, over word from another ousted strongman — exiled Juan D. Peron of Argentina — that he would leave Venezuela "as soon as possible."

Peron, who took refuge in the Dominican embassy after last week's uprising, said he expected to leave tomorrow, probably for the Dominican Republic. There, Dictator Rafael Trujillo has already provided a haven for Perez Jimenez.

The junta had said it would respect the principle of asylum if Peron wanted to stay in this country, but it made plain it could prefer that he leave.

Former political leaders driven from Venezuela during the Perez Jimenez regime began flocking back.

3 Fires in Various Parts of Nation Claim 14 Lives

By The Associated Press

Three separate fires took 14 lives throughout the nation today.

Five elderly men died of suffocation in a $50,000 blaze in the Olympia hotel in Des Moines, Iowa. About 35 other residents, many of them old age pensioners, escaped the 75-cent-a-night lodgings without injury.

Officials were investigating the cause of the fire in the old three-story building, temporarily evacuated only a week ago because of a small blaze.

In Grayville, Tenn., a 25-year-old mother and her three children died as their 4-room frame house went up in flames. An overheated stove apparently set off the blaze.

A Negro family of five, including three children under the age of four, burned to death as a fire destroyed their 3-room tenant farmhouse at Hessmer, Ala., near Marks.

The owner of the farm-house and firemen said the analyses of military problems must have started from Under Johnson's direction, it conducted for the army a study

Says 20 to 30 Million Americans Could Die in Attack by Russians

Washington — A scientist who directed a secret study of U.S. defenses said today the Russians now could mount a combined bomber-missile submarine attack that could kill 20 to 30 million Americans.

Dr. Ellis A. Johnson, director of the Johns Hopkins university operations research office, said "at the present time, our defense is not very good—very poor, as a matter of fact, if an attack were to come immediately."

Set Up Decade Ago

Johnson also said in a copy-righted interview in the magazine U.S. News & World Report that an extra $15 billion a year, for an indefinite number of years, would be needed to build up the United States' defense.

The Johns Hopkins operations research office was set up in 1948 to make scientific analyses of military problems.

At the present time, Johnson said, the Russians have the capability of knocking out "a big part" of our SAC bases.

If the Soviets continue their present production rate for the bombers at "several hundred said," "we can expect them... bombers at us" and perhaps 50 to have perhaps 1,000 bombers or more missile-firing submarines—and it would be more of reaching us from Russian territory."

600 Soviet Submarines

Johnson said the Russians have roughly 600 submarines and that "if they attack through American defenses, today, they would attack primarily with long-range manned bombers and submarine-launched missiles."

Johnson estimated that more than half of the attackers would be "adequate," and that "if they attack through American defenses, today, they would attack primarily with long-range manned bombers and submarine-launched missiles."

Byrd Proposes Debt Ceiling Of $278 Billion

Makes Suggestion As He Finishes Questioning Anderson

Washington — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) proposed today that Congress increase the national debt limit by $3 billion, instead of by $5 billion as asked by President Eisenhower.

A similar proposal was made last week in the house by Rep. Byrnes of Wisconsin, but was rejected in favor of a $280 billion limit.

Byrd, chairman of the senate finance committee, sprang this surprise as he finished questioning Secretary of the Treasury Anderson about the president's request.

The Virginia Democrat asked Anderson to study the probable effects of the smaller increase and report back on it later.

President's Proposal

Byrd said his own analysis indicated it would leave the treasury with a leeway of between $4,900,000,000 and $12,700,000,000 in the next 18 months.

Eisenhower wants the debt ceiling lifted to $280 billion on a temporary basis. Under the administration plan the limit would revert to $275 billion on July 1, 1959.

Anderson did not at once comment on Byrd's proposal. However, in his statement to the committee the secretary declared that the $5 billion increase was essential to tide the treasury over tight situations in the next year and a half, and also to give him the flexibility he needed to conduct refunding operations on a prudent basis.

$250,000 in Gems Stolen at Hotel

New York — Burglars stole nearly a quarter of a million dollars in jewelry from a suite in a downtown Manhattan hotel last night and didn't even muss a dresser drawer.

They also took $1,100 in cash from Mrs. Lillian Kramer's 5-room apartment atop the 22-story Hotel Edison.

Mrs. Kramer, a member of the family which owns the hotel, said the gems and cash were missing when she returned to her quarters shortly before midnight.

Federal-State Program Aims To Help U. S. Get Ahead of Russia in Science, Technology

Washington — President Eisenhower today sent Congress a 4-year, $1,600,000,000 federal-state program of aid for education. The blueprint aims to help America best Russia in science and technology.

The president told the lawmakers in a special message that the nation's immediate security aims in this space era can be furthered only by the efforts of individuals whose training is already far advanced.

But he added that if the United States is to maintain a position of leadership, "we must see to it that today's young people are prepared to contribute the maximum to our future progress."

Favors Fellowships

"Because of the growing importance of science and technology, we must necessarily question the Secretary of the exclusive attention to education in science and engineering," he said.

The program Eisenhower sent to the capitol was first announced in detail by Secretary of Welfare Folsom last Dec. 30.

Among other things, it calls for granting 10,000 scholarships annually with a leeway of between $4,900,000,000 and $12,700,000,000 in the next 18 months.

The president also called for granting graduate fellowships to bolster teaching strength, again with emphasis on science.

Californians Hunt Missing Boy Scout

Willows, Calif. — More than 100 sheriff's deputies and volunteers continued today their search for a 12-year-old tenderfoot Boy Scout in snow-mantled Grindstone canyon 40 miles west of here.

Dennis Wurmund, 12, became separated from his troop Saturday shortly before a storm hit the rocky gorge in the Mendocino National forest of northern California. Three feet of new snow hampered searching.

More than 500 loggers, telephone company workers, ranchers and sheepherders were in the search party led by Sheriff Lyle Sale Saturday and Sunday.

Egypt, Syria Ready to Form One Country

Heads of 2 Nations Due to Announce Merger Today

Cairo — The merger of Egypt and Syria into a single state is reported imminent. The newspaper Al-Ahram said President Nasser and Syrian President Sukhri Kuwatly would announce the union today.

Top Egyptian and Syrian leaders proclaimed the advantages of the proposed federation, and the Cairo press gave it top play. The public emphasis on the plan apparently was timed to take the edge off the opening of the Baghdad pact conference today in Ankara, Turkey.

Al-Ahram said Cairo would be the capital, the federation's name would be "The United Arab State" and there would be one government, one parliament and one army.

A plebiscite will be held in Egypt and Syria on the proposed union, Al-Ahram said.

Nasser told visiting U.S. newspaper and radio editors yesterday Egypt and Syria have agreed on all except minor details.

Dulles Assures Support With Great Mobile Power To Aggression Victims

Ankara, Turkey — Secretary of State Dulles told leaders of the five Baghdad pact nations today the United States will support their nations with "mobile power of great force" against any communist invasion.

Dulles' keynote speech at the opening of the Middle East alliance's ministerial council meeting emphasized that any potential aggressor "knows in advance that his losses from aggression would far exceed any possible gains." But, he said, "if perchance deterrence fails" the United States will contribute its mobile power to save the people of the Middle East.

222 Feared Lost in Gale Near Japan

Tokyo — A total of 222 persons, including 170 on an interisland ferryboat, today were feared lost in a windstorm that lashed the south and east coasts of Japan.

Seven vessels were missing despite an extensive air and sea search.

The 496-ton ferryboat Nankai Maru radioed the single word "danger" yesterday afternoon after leaving the Komatsujima, Shikoku, on a 38-mile crossing of the Kii strait and the Inland sea to Wakayama, Honshu. Winds of 50 miles an hour built waves six feet high at the time.

Debris found

Air and sea searchers combing the Kii strait had found yesterday Egypt and Syria lockers bearing the name "Nankai Maru." Nineteen vessels and two helicopters took part in the quest.

Earlier searchers discovered six plywood boards, a window frame, a life packet, a lifeboat, a lifebuoy and a white tool box south of Awaji island, between Honshu and Shikoku. They also were believed from the ferry.

One of many ferries that cross the strait, the Nankai Maru carried 141 passengers, including at least 10 children, and a crew of 29. The radar-equipped boat, less than two years old, had a 444-passenger capacity.

The No. 3 Shofuku Maru ran aground and capsized last night about three miles off Kushimoto, 100 miles south of Osaka in southern Japan. Five crewmen swam ashore but 22 others were feared lost.

Cultural Pact Seen With Reds

Soviet Ambassador Says Announcement Will Be Made Today

Washington — Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin said today the United States and Russia will sign an agreement on stepped-up cultural exchanges at 3 p. m. today.

Negotiations toward this agreement started exactly three months ago.

Zarubin, who is leaving Washington tomorrow for Moscow after five years as Soviet ambassador, met reporters after paying farewell calls at the state department.

The husky envoy, obviously in high spirits, spent 15 minutes saying goodbye to Under Secretary Christian Herter and Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy.

Zarubin, breezy and smiling in contrast to his usual sober mien, gave goodby handshakes to the reporters also.

He has made no secret of his desire to sign the exchanges agreement before going home.

It had been expected that the agreement would be reached last Friday but a hitch developed over disagreement concerning the chief U.S. proposal — to establish exchange of periodic radio-television commentaries on current events. These broadcasts would be uncensored, it was said, if the United States had its way.

It was not clear, however, whether the agreement, being Ali Sabry, Nasser's top political adviser, to discuss the federal point.

Turning to the question of disarmament agreement with the Russians, he said:

"The United States ardently seeks limitation of armaments on a basis of equality. But nevertheless the United States accepts the Soviet communist thesis that men, because they are religious, must deny themselves the need to defend their religious freedom."

The secretary warned against what he called the fanaticism of a "materialistic, atheistic group" seeking domination of the world.

"This fanatical group," he continued, "choosing every device without moral restraint, by use of revolution, military conquest and subversion has come to rule their part of the world and they exploit the human and material resources to extend their domination."

Aware of Danger

"That is a threat of immense proportions. We need not, however, be dismayed. The great danger is always the danger which comes from blindness to danger."

"Today we see the danger and so long as we ally ourselves loyally with what is good and true our cause surely will prevail."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the conference in his opening statement: "If the Russians now have a real desire to achieve a re-

Youth Rescued From Washington Mountain

North Bend, Wash. — A youth was rescued from the peak of a rugged mountain peak, a youth was plucked last night from his precarious perch by death-defying mountain climbers.

The youth, Clark Phillips, 18, was numb with cold, rain-soaked and exhausted when taken from the 2,500 foot level of Mt. Si, 25 miles east of Seattle in the Cascade range.

A 2-inch sapling to which he was clinging throughout his long ordeal while resting his feet on small notches in the rock, kept Phillips from plunging 1,000 feet to his death.

Syrian Foreign Minister Sa'ul Chalhoud yesterday dealt with the federal point.

U.S. Ambassador to Russia Returns Home

Begins Report to Officials Of State Department; Red Line On Disarmament Seen Stiffening

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
Washington — Amid signs of a stiffening Russian line on disarmament, U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson today starts giving state department officials his first hand views on Kremlin thinking.

Thompson returned from Moscow yesterday to begin two weeks of consultations with American diplomatic officials. This is his first trip home since last July.

Secretary of State Dulles now is attending a meeting of the Baghdad pact in Ankara, Turkey, but Thompson will see him when Dulles flies back to Washington next weekend. The U. S. envoy to Russia also may talk with President Eisenhower, although no plans have been announced for such a meeting.

No Headway
Newsmen who met Thompson at the airport yesterday asked whether he had made any headway in arranging new talks between the United States and Russia. "It doesn't seem so," Thompson replied.

Eisenhower wrote Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin earlier this month, expressing readiness for a summit meeting on condition there were fruitful preliminary negotiations on a lower level. Before leaving Moscow, Thompson tried to sound out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. But Gromyko said only that Eisenhower's letter would be answered in due course.

In that same letter, Eisenhower urged an agreement to control outer space for peaceful purposes, and to stop making missiles and like weapons.

While Thompson was en route home, the Moscow press and radio carried a speech made by Soviet Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev earlier in the week.

Khrushchev Speech
Khrushchev said any ban on intercontinental missiles would have to be part of a disarmament package containing Soviet proposals the west previously has rejected.

The Soviet leader demanded the dismantling of U. S. mili-

Young's Body Taken North In Private Car

Funeral Services To Be Tuesday At Portsmouth, R. I.

Newport, R. I. — The body of railroad tycoon Robert R. Young was due here today aboard his private railroad car for burial tomorrow next to the body of his only child.

The 60-year-old board chairman of the New York Central railroad, took his own life with a blast from a double-barreled 20 gauge shotgun Saturday.

The body was found in the top floor billiard room of Young's 23-room winter mansion at West Palm Beach, Fla., by members of his household staff.

Authorities said the death was suicide. They could give no reason why Young took his own life.

Young's body came north in his curtained, gleaming silver private car, known by railroad men everywhere as "No. 28."

The body was accompanied by his widow, the former Anita Ten Eyck O'Keefe, fellow members of the New York Central board and friends of the family.

Funeral Tuesday
The train was due at Providence's union station at 2:19 p. m. (EST) today. The body then was to be taken over the road to Newport, where the Youngs for years maintained a 40-room mansion for summer use.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at St. Mary's Episcopal church in nearby Portsmouth, where Young was listed as a member of the parish.

Burial will be in St. Mary's churchyard next to the body of his daughter, Eleanor, killed in a plane crash in Matunuck, R. I. in 1941.

Only a few days ago, Young presided at a meeting of the New York Central railroad board of directors at which it was voted not to declare a dividend for the present.

New York Central's earnings for December and 1957 were expected to be announced today but two top men in Young's financial empire said in advance finances had nothing to do with Young's suicide.

More Than 500 Attend Rites For Rep. Smith
Racine — More than 500 persons attended funeral services Saturday for Rep. Lawrence Smith, who died last Wednesday in Washington.

Services were held Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist church. Burial was in the family plot at West Lawn cemetery.

Graveside military ceremonies were conducted by the Racine posts of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Smith was an Army lieutenant in World War I.

The official funeral party included Wisconsin's other members of the house of representatives: Z. W. Johnson, the Republican congressman from Kenosha; W. W. Johnson, the Republican congressman from Racine; and Gov. Thomson, Walworth, Rock and Green.

Brother of President Dies Of Heart Attack

Arthur Eisenhower, 71 Was Retired Banker In Kansas City

Kansas City — Arthur B. Eisenhower, 71, eldest brother of President Eisenhower, died of a heart attack at his home last night. He had several seizures in recent years.

A retired banker, he collapsed in the bathroom while washing his hands and was found when found by his wife, Mrs. Louise Eisenhower, a few minutes later.

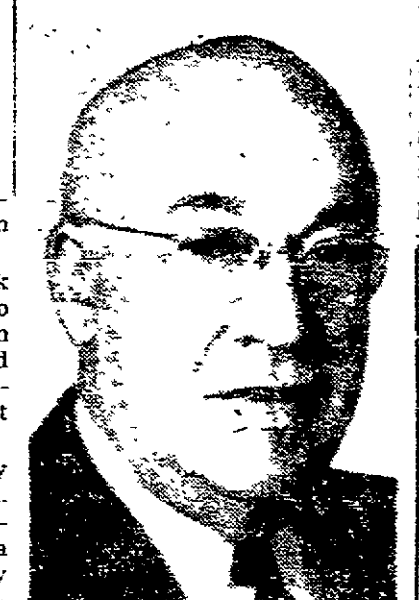

President Eisenhower immediately postponed a White House dinner scheduled Thursday night for the supreme court justices.

There was no word from the White House whether the president would attend the funeral. Arrangements for the services are incomplete.

Arthur Eisenhower started with the Commerce Trust company in Kansas City as an errand boy at $5 a week in 1905 and by 1934 was the bank's executive vice president.

He became vice chairman of the board in 1955. He resigned that post and as president of the smaller Plaza Bank of Commerce in November of 1956. A few weeks later he suffered a heart attack.

At the time of his death he was a director of Trans World Airlines, the Coleman company of Wichita, Kan., and several Kansas City firms. Mrs. Eisenhower said they had planned to attend a TWA directors meeting in New York this week.

During his banking career Eisenhower became recognized as a national authority on flour and grain financing.

He was one of six brothers who grew up at Abilene, Kan., and was the first to strike out on his own.

Besides his wife and the president, Arthur is survived by three other brothers: an adopted daughter, Mrs. Berton Roneche, East Hampton, Long Island, N. Y., wife of a magazine writer; and a grandson.

Dayan Resigns as Israeli Army Head

Jerusalem — Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, tough 1-eyed native Palestinian who commanded Israel's army in the invasion of Egypt, prepared today to return to his studies in archaeology.

Dayan resigned as chief of staff yesterday and was replaced by his deputy, Russian-born Brig. Haim Laskow. The change takes effect Feb. 1.

Daman, 43 and a veteran of Israel's pre-nation Haganah army, denied reports he has political ambitions. He said he had decided some time ago to quit the army to resume his studies at Hebrew university here.

Dayan, 43 and a veteran of army since 1953, said he felt the time was ripe for him to leave because of the nation's internal and external stability. He added that he felt no man should hold the command post too long and that young men should be kept moving up.

His 39-year-old successor also began his career in Haganah. After Israel became a nation, he headed the military training department and became Day's deputy. He directed mobilization for the 1956 Sinai campaign. His new post gives him the rank of major general.

Navy Busy in Effort to Fire Vanguard; Army Missile Nearly Ready

Bad Weather, Mechanical Bugs Blamed for Delays Last Week

BY BEN FUNK
Cape Canaveral, Fla. — Facts were not made known to the public until last night.

The air force fired a Snark guided missile 5,000 miles to ascension island off the African coast Saturday night. Informed sources said the missile "landed in its assigned impact area."

At the same time, the navy was busy with the Vanguard. It was learned that a launching of the rocket was only a few minutes away Saturday when the attempt was postponed.

As one delay continued to run into another, the conviction grew that the Vanguard must fly soon — in a matter of a very few days — or the Jupiter-C may take off first, carrying a 29.7-pound satellite.

The Vanguard still is experimental — its second stage guidance "brain" never has been tested in flight. All components of the Jupiter-C have been flown and were reported to have performed well.

As its first stage, the Jupiter-C employs the dependable Redstone, a 200-mile missile. The Redstone was developed by Werner von Braun, German scientist who built the V-2 rocket with which London was bombed in World War II.

Authorities close to the Vanguard project said heavy rains — a rarity at this season in Florida — were troublesome during last week's firing attempts.

The blimp of the first Vanguard — a highly publicized mishap that damaged American prestige at a time when the two Russian sputniks were whirling around the earth — touched off strong public demand for a speedup in the American program.

The latest try to fire the Vanguard covered several days last week. It was in progress Saturday night and when Sputnik II, carrying a dead dog, darted across the Florida sky in plain view of the missile test center at Cape Canaveral.

A few hours after that, the Vanguard crew called for more time.

A curtain of secrecy surrounded the latest attempt who headed the delegation of last state government officials.

Smith, 65, who was starting his 12th consecutive year in the U. S. house, was stricken as he entered the house restaurant Wednesday. He was pronounced dead shortly afterward.

The Republican congressman represented Wisconsin's First district, which includes the Chippewa, Shawano, Waushara, Vilas, and Lincoln counties.

Snow Blanket Thickened Over State

It was a snowy weekend and the weatherman sees no reason why the snow shouldn't continue to fall for at least two more days.

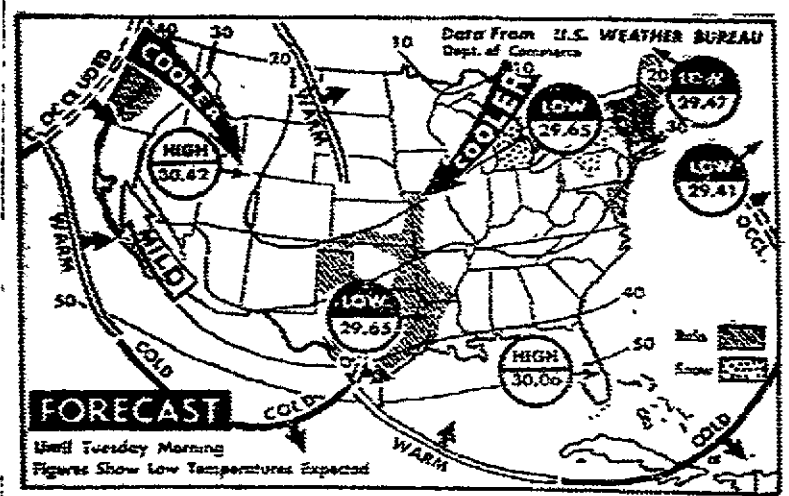

The Fox Cities today had a total of eight inches of snow on the ground, 2 1/2 inches more than they did on Friday.

Again the southeastern part of the state was hardest hit. Snowfall ranged from three to six inches there during the weekend.

Milwaukee has the most snow on the ground since Dec. 29, 1951, when 14 inches were measured. Four inches fell during the weekend to bring the 1952 total to 16 inches.

Temperatures continued comparatively mild with minimums today ranging from 24 in Madison to 29 at Milwaukee. The Fox Cities' overnight low was 24 at 5 o'clock this morning.

Sunday's highs ranged from 35 at La Crosse and Milwaukee

Four Injured In Weekend Car Crashes

Slippery Conditions Said to Contribute To Rash of Mishaps

Four people were injured during the weekend in nine accidents reported to county police. Many minor accidents, including about 25 cars in the ditch, were not formally reported. There were seven minor accidents recorded in Appleton. Extremely slippery conditions contributed to the cause of the accidents.

Earl R. Vande Bogart, 34, 617 W. Atlantic street, and his wife, Miriam, received neck injuries when their car was struck from the rear by one driven by Miss Irene Welch, 20, 320 1/2 E. South street. County police said Miss Welch skidded on icy pavement on Highway 76 about one half mile east of Highway 45 Sunday afternoon.

A 1957 car driven by Leonard Schmidt, Seymour, collided with a truck driven by Herman Maass, Seymour, as Maass attempted to turn left from a town road one-half mile east of Seymour Saturday. County police said. Both suffered facial cuts and knee injuries.

A car driven by Ronald Wunderlich, 18, 308 W. Summer street, skidded off Highway 10 about 2 1/2 miles west of Highway 45 and rolled over Saturday evening. Wunderlich was uninjured.

A car driven by Thomas P. Neuman, 36, 336 E. Pershing street, hit a mail box Sunday afternoon on a town road about one-half mile east of Hortonville.

Kaukauna — Thomas Reinke, 15, route 3, Kaukauna, was wounded in a shooting accident near his home about 3:30 Sunday afternoon.

He was struck below the elbow of the right arm by a 22-caliber bullet when Robert Hawley, 14, 210 W. Fourth street, Kaukauna, stumbled and fell and discharged the rifle he was carrying.

The boys were target shooting in the woods behind Reinke's home. Reinke was treated and his family physician, The Ray Sanders, Little Chute, bullet emerged from the fleshy part of the forearm.

Pegler Takes Issue With Federal Judge

Dislikes Decision Favoring Truckers In Suit Against Big Railroads

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — Thomas J. Pegler, a federal judge of the Philadelphia district, handed down last October an amazing jumble in the tone of the Warren court's finding that what so ever shall hurt whom so ever's feelings ain't fittin'.

The case was a civil suit under the anti-trust acts, 1914. Clary, a federal judge of the Philadelphia district, handed down last October an amazing jumble in the tone of the Warren court's finding that what so ever shall hurt whom so ever's feelings ain't fittin'.

The railroad defendants hired Byoir and his sly henchmen in 1949. Clary wrote that Byoir's objectives were harassment of the long-haul truckers and the passage of laws, and he well might have added "so what?" But he took offense at Byoir's resort to "third-party technique" in arousing public opinion, forgetting or being unaware that any large phone book contains actually hundreds of associations, institutes, funds, foundations, conferences and societies, whose titles softly veil the true aims of their managers.

Published Articles

Judge Clary accused Byoir et al of so presenting situations to the editors of Harper's magazine and Reader's Digest, periodicals of presumed integrity, that they published articles entitled "our roads" are going to pot" and "the rape of our roads," respectively. No quarrel is picked with the text of these pieces so the judge appears 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide transportation for commuters about five days a week of five hours each.

The trucking industry, having the artful knack of an office in no passengers, has neither a New York skyscraper that Grand Central nor Penn station could plant pieces of similar and loads and dumps its freight tenor and veracity in Saturday in rundown sections of big cities. Evening Post, Country Gentleman. The big bus-lines strew man and Parade, and, as the their steerage - trade among judge angrily found, somehow magazine racks, vending machines caused Gov. Lausche, of Ohio, chines and hot-dog facilities in to fight for a ton-mile tax on unswept dumps, as tawdry as motor freight in his successful airports, where aspirin, razor blades and busthead wine also are sold.

Judge Clary's spirited abuse in all but one speech he talked only of the ton-mile tax; in every TV program he centered attention on truck taxation; waving copies of the Harper's Magazine article before the camera, pointing to placards showing the justice of heavy taxes on trucks; displaying public utility commission records of violations by explosive-hauling trucks (the result of Byoir - inspired investigation) to prove how badly big trucks damage highways. The Cleveland Plain Dealer stated that "Lausche's astonishing victory against the political tide, can be construed as an endorsement of his highway program." Perhaps Lausche should have been a co-defendant.

No Fault With Facts

Richard Neuberger, now a senator from Oregon, was a professional journalist, and a woman employed by Byoir mailed him information that he used in a magazine piece already in work. No fault is found with the facts, but Clary is angry nevertheless because Byoir served his clients' purpose and earned his fee by making them known to the public.

The files of the house committee on un-American activities contain, literally, a thousand letterhead societies called "fronts" that strewed the country with seditious material. This, however, is the first time that a U.S. judge has held truthful information to be wicked merely because the disseminating agent knew that his client had two strikes on him by reason of ancient prejudice and therefore got up false fronts to plead his case with the public.

To Your Good Health

Asthma Caused by Allergy, Swells Breathing Passages

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My 15-month-old son has had recurrent attacks of asthma since he was three months old. Can you suggest any first aid treatments, other than steam, that you can suggest?"

Dr. Molner's answers are these:

Are these two illnesses related?

Since these attacks come suddenly and are severe, are there any first aid treatments, other than steam, that you can suggest?

Is there a definite cure? Can cold shots bring on an attack if given when there are no signs of a cold? My son had a cold the week before his shot, and this fall the hospital with croup. I hope the hospital with croup. I have made myself clear and you can help.—Mrs. A.B.

You write clearly. The one thing that puzzles me is what do you mean by 'cold shots'? We simply do not have any in the throat, with coughing and shots or vaccinations that will prevent colds, although we can give shots for some types of flu and gripe, which in a very rough sort of way could be called forms of "colds."

But let's get to asthma. Asthma is some sort of allergy, and like any form of allergy (whether it causes a rash, hay fever or asthma) the first best hope is to find passages instead of doing some of the other things allergies do. Asthma, in a child, is an ear-ly signal that it is never too soon to start finding out what allergies are involved.

Is there a "definite cure?" No. The big thing to remember is that asthma is to be viewed as an allergy—an allergy that irritates and swells the breathing passages instead of doing some of the other things allergies do. Asthma, in a child, is an early signal that it is never too soon to start finding out what allergies are involved.

Is there a cure? Often, yes.

As to first aid treatment, I suggest you ask your doctor what will suit the case best. The child is a bit young to understand how to take some of the medicines in tablet form, and steam inhalations, for the time being, probably are the best. A bit later in life I think you'll find that your doctor can suggest pills that will help speedily.

Appleton Post-Crescent 5, Monday, Jan. 27, 1958

What corrects one allergy may not correct another, but it is important to start looking early for the causes. Sometimes it is a long hunt. If the allergy cannot be completely cured, as is often the case, it is important to find out how to minimize it.

As to first aid treatment, I suggest you ask your doctor what will suit the case best. The child is a bit young to understand how to take some of the medicines in tablet form, and steam inhalations, for the time being, probably are the best. A bit later in life I think you'll find that your doctor can suggest pills that will help speedily.

Dulles States His Case

Secy. of State Dulles no doubt startled many of his hearers at the National Press Club when he declared the U. S. would be happy to sit down with the Russians at a summit conference and even invite the Red Chinese if we thought there was any chance of such a meeting really promoting the cause of peace.

Furthermore, Dulles added, we would vote to let Red China into the UN if such a move would serve "the best interests of the United States."

Dulles has been accused by his critics of being "inflexible," of refusing to even discuss further negotiations with the Russian or Chinese communist leaders, of laying down a rigid policy for this country which has led us into a cul de sac from which there is no escape except through war. His remarks quoted above certainly have answered those critics effectively.

It has been quite apparent for some time, we believe, that both Dulles and President Eisenhower have stood ready to negotiate with the devil himself if such negotiations could advance the cause of world peace. What has caused the split between them and their critics has been their realization that the communists love nothing better than show-window conferences which really get nowhere yet raise the hopes of people around the world, quiet their suspicions and fears of communist ambitions, offer shaky free governments an excuse to back away from burdensome defense expenditures.

This difference of opinion, moreover, is based on an even more fundamental disagreement over the nature of communism, and its role in world history. The Walter Lippmann-John Knight school thinks communist is here to stay whether we like it or not; therefore, they argue, we must accommodate it as best we can even at the cost of giving up some of our most cherished dreams such as a unified Germany or freedom for the satellites.

In his press club speech Dulles made it clear why he does not follow this line of reasoning:

There is a fatal defect in (the communist) system which in the end will lead to (its) undoing. It may happen quickly—it may be prolonged for many years—but it will come in time.

What a difference exists between this point of view and that of Lippmann who says freedom and communism will have to exist side by side for centuries, like Christendom and Islam! Lippmann, Knight and others of like mind have caved in before communist propaganda; they have come to believe that communism really is a "way of life" instead of just one more excuse for brutal dictatorship; therefore they want to "accommodate" it, to try to tame it. Dulles, on the other hand, recognizes that communism contains within itself the seeds of its own destruction — and that those seeds will do their work if the free world is not foolish enough to bolster up the Red dictators by making concessions out of fear and a misunderstanding of the enemy's true nature.

The idea of the communist empire becoming a permanent fixture in the world, is to us, more horrifying than the idea of missile-nuclear war. Dulles bases his thinking on a conviction that the ideal of freedom cannot help but win out in the end, if we do not throw victory away by giving up because we have lost a few battles.

Parole for Babich?

The current dispute over the request for parole by young Milton Babich is newsworthy simply because his crime was the type of case which catches the fancy of readers. It had the aspect of American tragedy.

But a decision for or against parole must come, as it always should, from the board set up for that purpose and without too much regard for public opinion. Reports of prison officials, the judge who sentenced the offender and the district attorney of course are of primary importance. But actually conflict in the case rests a great deal on the divided nature of our penal system.

The true reason for imprisonment is often given as the rehabilitation of the criminal, and fortunately this attitude has been more and more accepted by authorities and the public. But insistence on rehabilitation of the individual without regard for the effect of the crime upon society as a whole is simply unrealistic. Human beings are social beings with responsibilities to each other. If a prison sentence has a deterrent effect on would-be criminals — and this point is hotly disputed by experts — this angle must be taken into consideration.

In some ways the Babich case resembles the Loeb-Leopold case, not because of the nature of the crime but because the interest of the public has made parole difficult during times when probably far less rehabilitated and perhaps far less worthy prisoners have been paroled without notice. In any case young Babich probably will be legally released in a few more years because of the commutation of his sentence by former Gov. Kohler.

'As Ye Sow ...'

Startling significance can be written into a recently advanced theory which holds that man is not an animal but a plant which evolved from brown seaweed.

If true, it seems only a matter of time before human beings will sprout from the ground like a head of cabbage or stalk of beans.

Radical mish-mash, skeptics will say, but who — except the creator of Buck Rogers and perhaps Russian scientists — were, 10 years ago, thinking in terms of moon travel?

Lawrence S. Dillon, Ph. D., associate professor of biology at Texas A. & M. college, is the person responsible for this latest theory on man's evolution.

"All animals are in reality a type of highly modified plant life derived a billion years or so ago from a common ancestry with the brown seaweed," he tells us.

Carrying this thought forward and placing it in context with the fantastic scientific potential of modern times, one immediately entertains possibilities which, though extreme, might be well within the realm of human endeavor.

For instance, if man is really a plant, it follows then that human life might be reproduced by planting seeds in the ground.

Once capable of this, one could suppose that science would project itself into specialization. Hence, in the laboratory plot, you'd have a row of engineers, a row of mathematicians and a row of writers, much as you plant rows of radish, lettuce or beets today.

Going still farther, you come to that period when cultivating human plants would pass out of the scientific stage into the domain of public use.

The seed catalog, traditional harbinger of spring, then would contain a "personnel section" along with peas, petunias and pickles.

The entire process might advance even to the point where we'd have to have a soil bank for humans.

For man, who often has been called a wallflower, the theory holds intriguing possibilities. At best, it is no line of thought for a shrinking violet.

It may not come to pass in our lifetimes or those of our children but, if it does, the Biblical passage which warns "as ye sow, so shall ye reap" will take on added significance.

Sokolsky Suggests Consumer be Allowed to Decide on Toll TV

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

It would seem to me that congress ought to leave the question of "toll T.V." or "advertiser T.V." to the consumer.

Sokolsky and the Indians hoopa. That ought to be our opinion. There can be no public reasons for opposing toll T.V., although there may be many private ones.

Recently, having become more sedentary, I like, very late at night, to turn on an old-fashioned movie, some of which are very amusing. But I grow weary of having the sequence interrupted by a girl dancing a ballet in front of a box of soap or a fellow with a beard shaving it off, or a woman squinting some stuff on herself to avoid smelling like a human being. These interruptions spoil the picture for me, and therefore I am aroused emotionally against the products. It would be worth two quarters to see the pictures without the interruptions.

Low Quality Ads But what is even worse than the interruptions is the extremely low quality of the advertisements. Do you really believe that one filter tip is superior to another and that if you have a headache one kind of stuff gets rid of it faster than the other?

If this is true, the FTC is doing a very bad job because it should not permit the inferior commodity to advertise at all. Besides, I don't have a headache and I hate anyone who suggests that I may have a headache. The suggestion might bring one on. So now, I have a device which someone sent me that knocks everything off the air which I reject. But most of the time I forget to use it.

I simply leave the room when the bad advertising comes on. Who needs to know how women make their hair look fancy? When I was young, all that interested me was that a girl was attractive. Nowadays, it is doubly so because I am reaching those years of wisdom and selectivity when beauty is its own reward.

Why spoil my illusions by telling me that the young thing really looks like an old hag, but she has some stuff which she buys in a drug store that removes or erases all her blemishes, also marks of character and refinement, that colors her hair and shades her eyebrows and distorts her mouth and sets her hair and gives her curls, natural and unnatural?

All I want to do is to escape for an hour, before going to bed, from the trials and tribulations of life and politics and Nikita Khrushchev and George Kennan, the sputnik and the recession, and watch a tough guy murder a dame and get caught by a cop who nearly loses an arm and a leg doing it. Having thus been lulled to peace, I gently sigh at the normalcy of life in familiar surroundings. But no! Even before I can lift myself from a soft choice lounge, I am told how to clean a sewer.

Willing to Pay I willingly would pay four quarters not to be told how to clean a sewer. I have just seen virtue triumph over vice: I have just seen Humphrey Bogart get his just deserts — but no! I must be told how to clean a sewer. I don't own a sewer. All I want is to see a picture and I'm willing to pay to see it.

There is a committee of congress called house interstate and foreign commerce committee which has to pass on this subject. It is said that a combination of networks and theater-owners are organized against natural human progress, namely "toll T.V." I don't blame them. The networks make money from advertising and the movie houses are having a tough time as it is.

However, a little competition might help them both to improve their product which is pretty poor. Whenever it is necessary to put a sign in a theater marked, "applause" which flashes on and off urgently when applause is desirable, the show is self-confessedly no good. If the stuff is good, people watching it just naturally applaud. Even the advertisements might be less vulgar, as some really are. I would like to hear one fair and honest argument against toll T.V. from the consumers' standpoint.

Donation Goes to Fire Company

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 1, 1879.

At a regular meeting of the Hortonville fire company, held at the hall, a vote of thanks was given to the Outagamie County Mutual Fire Insurance Company for the liberal donation of thirty dollars to said Fire company for its successful efforts in saving L. Steffen's building from being consumed by fire on or about the 13th of December last, said buildings being insured by said company.

Fire and smoke caused damage estimated at approximately $12,000 in two adjoining buildings on Main street, Waupaca. The greatest damage occurred in the building owned by the Odd Fellows lodge, which housed the Arcade Billiard hall on the first floor and lodge rooms on the second.

Miss Dorothea Wonders was installed as president of Young Ladies' sodality of St. Joseph church. Others who were seated include Miss Ida Becher, vice president, Miss Dolores Dohr, treasurer, and Miss Eileen Schomisch, recording secretary.

Ervin W. Volkman, Neenah, was awarded the Purple Heart, a military decoration originated by George Washington, according to a communication from the quartermaster general of the war department.

Approximately 250 couples attended a dancing party given by the Kaukauna Golf club at Rainbow Gardens. The committee in charge of the arrangements included George Egan, chairman, S. J. Berens, E. F. Renick, A. Bayorgoon, H. Engelson, C. Chopin, D. Andrews, T. Zwick, J. Weyenberg, H. A. Baier, J. Dirter, H. Frank, R. McCarty and M. Hass.

Voter Tries Hard but Ballot's No Good

Gettysburg, Pa. — P. — One voter in Berwick township had his own ideas for his ballot in the fall elections here.

He printed, under his own title of the "live and let live amendment," the question "Shall We Have A Stop Light at Cross Keys?" After that he drew two squares, one marked "yes" and the other "no" and placed an "X" in the "yes" square.

Election officials threw out the ballot because it had been defaced.

Democratic Chairman Young Man in a Hurry

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Young people interested in politics as career or avocation may be encouraged by the swift rise of Patrick J. Lucey, the new Democratic state chairman, who came out of the hills of western Wisconsin as a green but determined assemblyman only a little more than nine years ago.

The youthful Lucey's rise is perhaps a little more spectacular than can be expected by the average youngster entering politics. There is an extraordinary drive and resolution about him. Yet it contains a lesson. So quickly are politicians and political leaders expended, so rapid is the turnover, that there is quite literally room almost always in any party for young men and women of talent and ambition and energy.

Lucey's arrival in Madison after the 1948 elections (in which he defeated one of the best known of the Republican legislators, Speaker Donald C. McDowell of Crawford county) is still remembered in the capitol's press rows. The young man showed early the qualities to which he was to owe his rise — including a zest for speech-making, a considerable measure of articulateness, and a combativeness that is a useful part of the equipment of any partisan in a state which likes lively competition in its political affairs.

PERIPATETIC

If this year's program of activities can be judged by his schedule lately, the state will see a good deal of the black-haired, tense and quick-talking Mr. Lucey before the ballots are counted next November. Perhaps never before has the party had an organization head who travels so much and talks so much for the cause as this chairman.

Currently his job — as he sees it — is to attend to the mechanical preparations. A resolute organizing drive is underway — one that seems on the surface at least to excel anything the Republicans have done lately. It might be guessed that when the loyal Democratic workers of a tiny party organization in a remote Republican county with a long history of Republican adherence find Lucey willing to make the long drive up from Madison to talk with them it is good for his morale. All politicians like to exaggerate a bit about their optimistic prospects, but Lucey seems to be so sure that the skeptic is bound to be a little impressed in spite of himself.

He is also preparing a slate of subordinate state office candidates, and in a thoroughly matter-of-fact and practical way. His goal is to have a ticket with a balance of geographical placement and racial origin, and he is quite candid about his intentions.

THE MAN

Lucey is a young man in a hurry — as he has shown in an altogether impressive career thus far.

His political progress has been matched by his private business achievements. Only a few years ago he set up a real estate sales office in the capital city which is probably crowded with such offices to a degree beyond that found anywhere else in the state. Today Lucey probably moves more listings than any of his older competitors in town. He has started the market with some of his business gimmicks, incidentally, are starting to turn up in his political work. He proposes to merchandise the Democratic party, in terms of money solicitations and party memberships, in the aggressive way that he pushed Lucey's property listings in the capital.

The question about this young hustler's future already is talked about. It would be strange, perhaps, if a man who has struck out so boldly didn't have some private dreams. It would be stranger still, if the Democratic party ever comes to power in this state, if Lucey didn't figure on a future slide or in an important appointment to public office.

What Others are Saying

Power Vs. Population Growth

From the Wyoming State Tribune

The governments of the great nations are still practicing the politics of power as if there lay the key to the lasting security and betterment of mankind.

But a rising mountain of evidence suggests that they are misdirecting their efforts. While they stiffen their power with ever more ruinous armament, tremendous problems are engulfing their peoples.

The greatest of these is the population explosion. It may in truth be basic to all the others. And it could work with deadlier effect upon the governments of the world than the most devastating nuclear burst.

If there are men on Mars and they have any means of observing life on this earth, they must be amused at the irony of our situation.

We are involved in economic and social changes so vast that they ought to command the full minds and energies of the world's ablest men. To meet these changes calls for an unexampled spirit of dedication, for undiluted effort, and for a supreme exercise of human imagination.

Yet for the most part we are treating these changes as if they were some kind of minor tropical storm which will never reach our shores.

In the Kremlin, men warped by outdated notions of power and its fruits go on building great engines of war. They may not really want to use them, but they clearly want to make the world tremble before them, and to find global conquest down this path of fear.

We in the west believe, with good reason, that we have no safe course but to balance this threat, to blunt the Kremlin's aggressiveness by matching its potential for ruin. So we, too, devote ourselves heavily to armaments and treaties for defense and aid that helps defense.

All the while this frantic race goes on at accelerating speed, a greater race is in progress. In America, in Russia, in China, in India and almost every habitable spot on this earth, human numbers soar dizzily.

Armaments can have no effect on this spreading swarm of humanity, except as pestilence has had in earlier times.

The world needs disarmament not simply so it may avoid war. It needs the chance to devote its full human and physical resources to finding an enduring means of bringing the world's peoples into balance with the world they live in.

This is an assignment for an era, and one that commands priority above all other human enterprises, if humanity is to survive and prosper.

Janos Kadar Resigns His Premier Post

Hungarian Leader
To Run Red Regime
As Party Secretary

Budapest, Hungary — (P) — Premier Janos Kadar offered his resignation to Hungary's parliament today. He will continue to run the country's red regime as first secretary of the communist party.

Kadar in a 90-minute speech which was applauded repeatedly proposed that his 72-year-old first deputy, Ferenc Muenich, step up to the premier-ship. The vote on the proposals is expected tomorrow, with approval a virtual certainty.

Kadar said he also would remain in the cabinet as minister of state.

He took office in 1956. Kadar's resignation had been rumored before every recent session of the Hungarian parliament. He was the only leader in the Soviet bloc still holding the two key posts of premier and party first secretary.

Kadar took office as premier in November, 1956, when Russian troops returned to Budapest and crushed the revolt against Soviet domination. Before that he held key posts in the brief anti-Russian government headed by Premier Imre Nagy and also took over party leadership during the revolt.

Kadar also proposed that Education Minister Gyula Kalai give up that job, continuing only as party secretary and minister of state. Valeria Benke, head of the government-run radio station, would be the new minister of education.

Antal Apró, now a deputy premier, would become first deputy premier.

Dulles Pledges Baghdad Nations Aid if Attacked

ence in his opening statement: "In the new state of tension, this is because by our alliances we have defended resolutely the principles and interests vital to us."

"However, our constant aim must always be to reduce east-west tension and to seek agreement with the Soviet Union wherever and whenever this can be achieved without surrender of our vital interests."

Commenting on Russia's call for an early summit conference of world leaders, Lloyd said the level of a conference is not as important as "concrete and sensible results."

Economic Aid Plea

"Careful preparation must come first," he said, "and if it then seems that a summit meeting would be the best way to get agreement, then by all means let us have a summit meeting."

Mendes called on the United States and Britain to speed up and expand economic support for the Baghdad allies.

Premier Manouchehr Eghbal of Iran. Premier Feroz Khan Noon of Pakistan and former Premier Nuri Said of Iraq echoed Mendes' plea for more money, materials and manpower, they said all were urgently needed to match the new economic challenges of Russia in the Middle East.

Dulles and Lloyd, however, held out little hope that either the United States or Britain would come through soon with any spectacular offers of new aid.

"We believe there is merit in concentrating initially on completing those projects already under way," Dulles said.

Lloyd took about the same position but said Britain, within her economic limits, would re-examine the needs of the region "nearer the time when present funds will have been exhausted."

In an indirect reference to recent American credits to India, Pakistan's delegate said the people of Baghdad pact countries "are quite bewildered when they find some of those so-called neutralists are the recipients of large-scale aid not only from communist countries, but also from western countries whose policies they are constantly attacking."

Iraq's Nuri, in a freewheeling attack on Israel, called upon the conference to support a Palestine settlement based upon the frontiers for the Jewish state outlined by the U.N. in 1947. He blamed Israel for the anxiety and insecurity in the Middle East.

He also pledged support for Pakistan in her dispute with India over Kashmir and for Turkey in the Cyprus issue, and urged that France put an end to "horrible massacres in Algeria."

Fire Officials Say Arsonists Started Blaze

Debris From Burned
Milwaukee Building
Sent to Crime Lab

Milwaukee — (P) — A $30,000 warehouse fire Jan. 18 was blamed Sunday on professional arsonists by Milwaukee fire department authorities.

Fire Chief Edward Wischer said, "We have never been confronted with anything like this in the fire but still smelled before."

Debris collected from the building was sent to the state crime laboratory at Madison for examination. Authorities said an old, battered safe found at the scene of the fire apparently had nothing to do with the blaze.

Milk Cartons Clue

Wischer and Herbert Gurn, a deputy chief who heads the department's investigation bureau, said evidence was found at the fire scene which indicated a "professional touch."

The items sent to the crime laboratory included four waxed milk cartons that were charred strongly of gasoline. Authorities also found five other cartons with gasoline in them in another part of the building. A 24-hour guard has been posted around the building.

base today he was "going strong" 117 miles from the South pole on his transAntarctic trek.

Fuchs, who left the pole with his British party Friday, was continuing his speedup of the trek today.

Friday the expedition did 25 miles. Saturday they upped it to 35, and yesterday they covered 40 miles.

Fuchs hopes to reach Scott base, 1,200 miles from the pole, before the winter really sets in. It will be the first overland crossing of the Antarctic continent.

Your Income Tax

Two Ways to Take Deductions; Try Both to Find Best Method

BY G. K. HODENFIELD

AP Features Writer
In the fifth article of this series we discussed the possible exclusion of "sick pay" from your gross income. In the sixth article we discussed job-connected expenses that may be deducted.

with form 1040 go into great detail on the itemized deductions at $2,500.

Important Categories

Some of the more important categories are:

Contributions—This includes gifts to religious, charitable, educational, scientific or literary groups. However, you can't deduct gifts to friends or relatives, political candidates or organizations, social clubs, labor unions, chambers of commerce or propaganda organizations.

Generally, these contributions may not exceed 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income. However, you may deduct up to 30 per cent if one-third of what you claim is for contributions to churches and tax exempt hospitals and educational institutions.

Interest—This includes interest on your home mortgage or on a bank loan or other personal debt. The "service charge" or "carrying charge" on many installment purchases are not strictly interest but you can still deduct a part of this. Just add up the balance still due at the end of every month and divide the total by 12 to find the average unpaid balance. You may then deduct 6 per cent of that figure as interest.

Medical and dental expenses—This one can be a bit tricky, but it may be a means of saving you considerable money. First, find 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income. You can include in medical expenses the cost of drugs and medicine that exceeds that amount. Next, find 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income. You can deduct medical expenses that exceed that amount.

Persons Over 65
Persons 65 or older may ignore the 3 per cent rule on their own medical bills, but not the 1 per cent limitation on drugs and medicines. However, per-sons of any age whose medical bills during the year have been extremely high should refer to page 10 of the instruction booklet for the dollar limitations that the law places on medical de-

Taxes—In general you can deduct most of the non-federal taxes you paid during 1957. This would include state, county or city retail sales taxes, personal property taxes, real estate taxes, state or city income taxes, state gasoline taxes, poll taxes, auto license fees.

However, you can't deduct federal excise taxes on your personal expenditures, water taxes, hunting licenses, dog licenses, federal social security payments, auto inspection fees or taxes paid by you for another person.

Casualty losses and thefts—The law allows you to deduct any loss not covered by insurance, from the destruction of your property in a fire, storm, automobile accident, shipwreck, hurricane, flood or other natural forces. You can deduct your losses from theft in the year of discovery, but not losses from misplacing articles of value. Damage to your car by collision or other accident can be deducted if due merely to faulty driving, but not if due to your willful act or negligence.

Care of children and disabled dependents—A deduction of up to $600 may be claimed by employed women and men who are widowed, legally separated or divorced, for the care of certain dependents. The basic rules are that the care must be necessary to allow the taxpayer to work or seek work and that the dependent be under 12 or physically and mentally unable to care for himself.

Married Women

A married woman can claim the deduction only if she files a joint return with her husband. Furthermore, the deduction must be reduced by the amount the combined adjusted gross income exceeds $4,500. Thus, if the combined adjusted gross income is $5,000, the deduction

Miscellaneous—This is a catch-all category where you may be able to find some tax savings. It includes most of your job-connected expenses which you have not claimed on page 1 of the form 1040.

For instance, if you work for salary or wages and your job requires the use of small tools, this is the place to deduct the cost of those tools. The same applies to special uniforms which you have to buy yourself, safety equipment.

You can deduct dues to a union or professional society fees to employment agencies, the cost of entertaining customers—where your firm did not reimburse you—and alimony or separate maintenance payments.

You cannot deduct the cost of traveling to and from work, no matter how far and how expensive it might be. You can't deduct educational expenses. And you can't deduct the cost of entertaining friends.

After you have itemized all the personal deductions permitted by law, compare the total with 10 per cent of your adjusted gross income. Then either take the standard 10 per cent deduction or itemize your deductions whichever gives you the biggest saving.

The next and last article in this series will point up some common mistakes made by taxpayers in filing their returns, and some tips that may keep you out of trouble with the tax collector.

come minus your "sick pay" and job-connected expenses.

On line 5 of the first page of the form 1040 you list your gross wages and compensations. On line 6(a) you can list your business expenses, and on line 6(b) your sick pay exclusion. Add the figures on lines 5(a) and 6(b), and subtract the total from line 5.

Gross Income

The remainder is your adjusted gross income if you have no income from other sources such as interest, dividends. If you list no sick pay exclusion or job-connected expenses, the amount on line 5 would be your adjusted gross income.

The standard deduction allowed to all is 10 per cent of this adjusted gross income, but with certain dollar limits. If you are single, the standard deduction can't total more than $1,000. The limit is also $1,000 if you are married and file a joint return. If husband and wife file separate returns, the limit they may claim under the standard deduction is $500 each.

If you itemize your deductions, you can forget both the 10 per cent and the dollar limits. Thus it may be to your advantage to work it out both ways and see whether you would save money by itemizing.

Husbands and wives filing separate returns should remember that if one takes the standard deduction, the other must do the same. Likewise, if one itemizes his or her deductions, so must the other.

One of the 32 political posts open in the April 1 city election remained without a candidate through noon today.

The announcement was made jointly by Promoter Harry Levene of London and Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager.

Levene said the fight probably would be held in Wembley stadium, London, with a seating capacity of 85,000 people.

Proxmire Warns of Stagnation in Industrial Output

Prairie du Sac — Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.) said Sunday that the people of the United States should be deeply concerned over what he termed the stagnation of the nation's industrial output.

Proxmire spoke at a coffee hour and said President Eisenhower's economic report showed no increase whatever in 1957 industrial production.

"At a time when we are engaged in a race for survival with the Soviet Union," Proxmire said, "this stagnation is alarming. Reliable estimates indicate that while we were standing still last year, industrial production in Russia continued the headlong expansion which has been so much more rapid than ours ever since 1945."

Proxmire said no one doubts that America's free enterprise system can out-produce Russia, but added "it will take leadership that insists on moving forward." He said there is nothing in the president's report to indicate that there is any understanding of the urgency of the challenge.

Natural Ice Used for Cooling Foods Back in Ancient Times

BY RAMON COFFMAN

When the weather is cold enough, ice appears outdoors. Usually it is less pure than ice produced in refrigerators, but it is interesting and has various forms. Snow and frost are special kinds of ice.

Q. Did people have ice in their homes during warm weather in ancient times?

A. Rich Greeks and Romans sometimes cooled their food in summer with ice which had been cut from lake ice or river ice during the winter.

A century and a half ago, a strong natural ice industry grew up in New England. Blocks of ice were sent to Charleston, S. C., New Orleans and other southern ports, also to the West Indies. This ice was carried by swift sailing vessels known as "clippers."

Q. Does water always freeze at the same temperature?

A. Pure water freezes at 2 degrees above zero Fahrenheit (or at zero on the Centigrade scale). Salt water freezes at a lower temperature.

The average freezing point of ocean water is 27 degrees above zero Fahrenheit. The temperature differs, however, according to the amount of salt in the water. Ocean water varies in salt content, and to a greater degree the seas and salt lakes differ. The more salt in water, the lower the freezing point.

Q. Why does water in the North Atlantic and the North Atlantic differ in temperature? Even on a calm day there is a swelling of the ocean, due in part to tides. In addition, the deep waters of an ocean have strong upward and downward movements. The cold surface water is replaced by water from below.

Ocean water does freeze in polar areas. There is a vast amount of frozen salt water in the Arctic and Antarctic seas even during the summer.

Penney's Proposes New Retirement Plan for Employees

New York — J. C. Penney company is submitting a single profit-sharing retirement plan for approval of stockholders at a special meeting Feb. 25. A. W. Hughes, president, says.

The new plan would replace two such present plans, one for management adopted in 1940 and one for other employees adopted in 1939. The new plan like the old ones, will require contributions from participants.

The plan for management had authorized a maximum annual contribution by the company of 2 per cent of profits before federal income taxes with an additional contribution based on salaries.

The plan for other employees "associates" as the company prefers to call them, provides for a maximum company contribution of 4 per cent of pre-tax earnings.

These three contributions will be replaced by an annual contribution of 8 per cent of profits before federal income taxes to damages estimated at $1,000, "provide enlarged benefits under the new plan."

Nixon May Meet With Red Leaders

Vice President Has Conference With Zarubin

Washington — Vice President Nixon and Russian leaders apparently would like to meet. They might do so on Nixon's scheduled European tour next summer and fall.

The vice president reportedly received no formal invitation to visit Russia during a surprise 42-minute meeting Friday with departing Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin.

But one result of that unusual conference is increased speculation that the Russians want to know a lot more about Nixon's thinking than they could learn through the Zarubin talks.

Want Good Look

Top Russian leaders might like to get a good look at a man who may be president and who won his political spurs by pounding away at opponents on the issue that they were soft on communism.

Nixon, in turn, apparently would like to get his own personal impression of Nikita S. Khrushchev and the other Russians with whom he would have to deal if he became president.

For the vice president, it would afford something of an exchange of ideas without any of the formalities or responsibilities that hedge summit conferences and other such meetings.

As matters stand, Nixon intends to take off for Europe in late August or September. That will be about the time the campaign for control of congress is getting under way in earnest.

Has Advantages

Because of the large number of invitations Nixon received when a similar trip fell through last year, at least six weeks of travel would be indicated.

In the minds of some of Nixon's friends, the trip might have two advantages in his expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination:

It would round out the vice president's personal acquaintance with world statesmen, giving him a chance to talk with western European leaders who know little more about him than what they read. If he also talked with the Russians, so much the better, they reason.

It also would telescope Nixon's congressional campaign role. It would permit him to make some high level speeches as the campaign closed, without being required to hammer away daily at the Democrats.

Nixon recently has shown a disposition to temper the sort of campaign attacks he made in the 1954 congressional battle.

Reorganization for Defense Bureau May Be Ready in 60 Days

Washington — Administration plans for reorganizing the defense department, given a shove by President Eisenhower, may be ready in about 60 days.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles gave that estimate as the house armed services committee recalled Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin today in its continuing probe of defense activities. Gavin, who has criticized the present system, is retiring March 31 as chief of army research and development.

Windows Broken

NYC Stock Opens At 12 Cents Under Last Friday's Close

New York — New York Central stock opened at $15.37 a share today after a delay of an hour and a half while specialists on the stock exchange matched a flood of buying and selling orders.

The opening price was off 12 cents from last Friday's close. The original transaction was made on 12,000 shares. This represented a bunching of many small orders.

It was the market's first reaction to Saturday's news of the suicide of Robert R. Young, chairman of the New York Central Railroad and Allegheny corporation.

Brokers said most of the orders to buy and sell in New York Central came in small lots from all sections of the country. There was no concerted selling.

Allegheny corporation common opened at $4.25 a share, off 25 cents from Friday's close. It held around that level in subsequent dealings.

Missouri Pacific class "A" stock opened at $23.12, up 12 cents from Friday's close. Allegheny has an investment in Missouri Pacific.

Brokers were uniformly of the opinion that the buying and selling in New York Central and Sheriff's was limited to small orders.

Man Charged With Abducting Girlfriend, 17, Driving to Kansas

Gerald E. Whitfield, 20, Plover, and a 17-year-old Appleton girl are being held in the Outagamie county jail. Whitfield is held on a charge of abducting the girl and she is held pending investigation of the case.

Whitfield and the girl were arrested Jan. 17 in Olathe, Kansas, after the girl's mother swore out a warrant for Whitfield. They left Appleton and told sheriff's officers in Olathe that they had tried unsuccessfully to be married several times on their way west. Whitfield said the girl gave her right arm each time, foiling their marriage attempts.

They were apprehended after they registered at a rooming house.

Mothers of Prisoners Start Homeward Trip

Hong Kong — Three American mothers have returned from a visit to their sons imprisoned in red China, weary but cheered by Chinese hosts that the three men may get clemency.

The three women were unwilling to discuss the possibilities of their sons' release, but they recalled a Chinese assurance made just before they left that good behavior might bring future leniency. The three held a news conference yesterday at Hong Kong's Carleton hotel after their arrival from Canton.

"Hope springs eternal all ways," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., whose son, 38, is serving a life sentence in Shanghai.

Asked whether she thought red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai would pardon her son, Mrs. Redmond said, "I don't think so."

In Good Taste Etiquet on Use of First Name Varies

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening my husband introduced a man he has known for many years to me, but whom I had never met. He calls this man by first name but as he was a stranger to me, I called him Mr. Smith, which, I thought perfectly correct. My husband criticized me later for being so formal and thinks that I should have called him Jim. Does the fact that my husband calls him by first name give me the right to do so?

Answer: If he was a very intimate friend of your husband about whom you heard a good deal, it would have been friendly and proper to call him by first name. Had he not been a Manser, Miss Ida Tilly, James Danielson, Herman Hoepfner, Charles Kahler, Amos Kohl and Leonard Wiese. Mrs. E. S. Zeh won at canasta.

Future House

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to be married shortly and I would like to know just what household items the girl and her family are supposed to provide and also what the bridegroom-to-be is supposed to furnish for their future house?

Answer: There is today no rule governing this and each contributes what he (or she) is best able to.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Any bridge expert, bridge writer or other type of bridge authority who teaches or even implies that so-called scientific bidding guarantees good contracts, is either a charlatan or is easily self-deluded.

The undisputed fact is that many hands demand out-and-out speculation, with the result in doubt until the dummy comes down with this or that particular ace or king or queen—or it may be a question of a lucky or an unlucky opening lead. The point is that there is plenty of science and skill in bridge, without any necessity for closing one's eyes to the element of chance.

For, even while conceding the frequent need of speculation, it is vital to observe that there is such a thing as good, logical speculation, and bad speculation. Both were well exemplified in the following deal, played in a team-of-four match.

North-South vulnerable.

SOUTH

At the first table South was the sort player who lives by "the book," and as a consequence this was the auction:

North East South West
1 D Pass 1 H Pass
2 D Pass 4 N T Pass
5 H Pass 6 H (end)
South didn't bid the six hearts with any high degree of assurance—in fact, he hesitated for a long time, considering a pass to the five-heart bid—but at best he was doomed to a substantial loss on the deal. West naturally opened the spade queen, and the defense took two tricks in a hurry.

The other South was a different type of player—one with imagination and the proper seasoning of nerve. Realizing the moment he heard his partner's diamond bid, that a slam would have to be reached unless, improbably, North announced only one ace, this South responded directly with the four-no-trump Blackwood bid. Surely, if North had two aces, he might also have some suit holding that would be infinitely better led up to than through, and the Blackwood would provide just that effect. It did! South carried North's automatic five-heart answer to six hearts, and with East on opening lead, there was no defense.

Your Problems

If Woman Can be Calculating In a Marriage, Why Can't Man?

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Many women marry for money and make no bones about it. In our society this is considered perfectly all right. The world congratulates them for making a "practical" selection. These women tell them selves they were smart to marry a man who Ann Landers could "DO SOMETHING" for them, rather than some good-looking slob with no bank-account.

Yet, when a man applies the same reasoning, he's called a fortune-hunter and other unattractive names. I'm a bachelor with much to offer a woman. No money, you understand—but what marriage needs TWO rich people?

Every female I date twice starts to fish for a financial statement. They expect to be hauled, entertained, fed, flowered and gifted. Yet all THEY do is look pretty and smell sweet. Frankly, I'm fed up with this dead-heading. If a woman can be calculating in a marriage, why can't a man?—HONEST JOHN

If you're considering selling yourself to the highest bidder, shoot for the top price. Buster, because marrying for money is very hard work. Both men and women have been known to marry for money and while they can't be put in jail for it, I'll bet they'd gladly settle for jail after a few months of such a life.

In our society the male role is that of protector and provider. The husband is expected to make a home for his wife and she is supposed to take care of that home, attend to his needs, and help to raise the children.

If you are feeding, hauling, flowered and gifting girls who do nothing but look good

Beauty Neck, Shoulders Need Attention

By Marian Matthews

Because so much is available today to make women more lovely, it is disconcerting to see a girl in evening dress who has forgotten that neckline and shoulders need attention.

Treat your face, neck and shoulders as one for gala occasions and you achieve the effect you should. Equal time should be given to face, neck and shoulders when applying make-up. Blend your foundation over the throat so that it shows no dividing line. Choose a blender designed just for use on neck and shoulders to finish the job—this is a cosmetic that won't rub off on the neckline of your dress so you can carry the flattery as far as necessary.

The neckline of your dress is important. Select one that enhances the shape of your face and the line of the neck. Then make the most of its outline by wearing the proper bra or foundation garment. If you are uncomfortable in a strapless type consider the garment with straps way over to the side so that they hide easily under the wide cut neckline or shoulder straps. In this day of low to daring plunge back necklines the bra should be a type cut to hide securely out of eye range—some even hook to girly tops to make this possible.

day with sacks and wound up with sheaths.

The new designer for the house this year is Mad Carpentier, a pupil of Vionnet of pre-war fame.

Low-bosomed cocktail sheaths revealed nearly all, while daytime necklines were filled in with starched white bibs almost as modest as the nun's wimple. Skirts just covered the knee without much to spare, and the leading colors were beige and blue.

Patou's daytime dresses and suits may be sacks, but they are never baggy. Jackets are slightly longer, often double-breasted and with long lapels and flap pockets. The collection is rather a mixture of different styles, but running through it consistently are loose backs gathered on to deep yokes.

Elbow-length sleeves on coats and jackets are shaped like leg o'mutton sleeves cut off halfway. A popular daytime neckline is a very narrow deep V, with buttons extending below the waistline.

Takes Slack Out Of Sack

The designer takes the slack right out of the sack for cocktail, afternoon and evening wear. Her sheaths have no seam at the waist, but they hug the whole body from the hip up.

Instead of those long skipping ropes of beads, the new costume jewelry runs to deep collars of pearls or crystal, dressing up the strapless or deep-decollete formals.

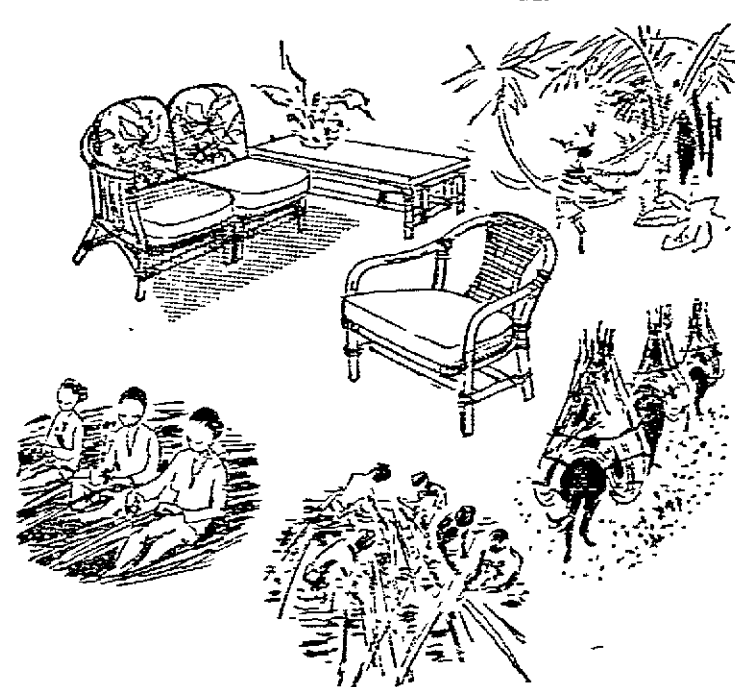

Some afternoon and cocktail dresses have wide satin corselet belts, and there are several belted jersey shirt-waist dresses. Drapery returns to the bustline and sometimes to the hip. Lots of skirts are wide-pleated, and there are even a few gathered-on panels.

Bustle Effects
Saucy puffs of drapery at the back of cocktail or formal dresses almost imitate bustles. Puffed skirts are often pulled in at the hem.

The furniture which is so of-the-pink to go with French ten called bamboo isn't bamboo. Provincial fruitwood furniture, at all, but rattan. Now I discover that the walls must be papered rather than painted the plain beige I planned on. Since I have already bought patterned draperies, I'm wondering what to do. Will a tiny pattern say in beige and white look right?"

Some of the handsomest of walls are papered in monotone patterns. You will be able to find a paper, not necessarily a small pattern but perhaps a textured effect of a much muted larger pattern in beige and white which will be very effective if you shop painstakingly for it.

Lack of Diploma Foolish Issue In Happy Marriage Relation

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Kirk H.—My sister hurts our parents.

Louise H.—My parents are snobbish to my husband.

Kirk H.—My older sister was married a year ago to a fellow my parents didn't particularly like. They didn't make any objections, however, because my sister was 28 and they figured it was high time she got married. Since she got married Louise has been like a stranger to all of us. She invited us over to her home exactly once and came to our home only once. My parents are very, very hurt. When I tried to find out what was wrong, Louise told me to mind my own business.

The only thing I can figure is that her husband just doesn't like us. I don't care for my sake, but Louise should have more consideration for our parents.

Louise H.—It is just like Kirk to stick his nose into things that don't concern him. My parents don't say anything because they know what's wrong. It's their attitude toward my husband.

It's true they didn't say anything out loud when I married Ed but they showed in every way that they didn't think much of him. They kind of clammed up whenever he was around. They never treated him like a son, as though they were glad to have him in the family.

Ed never showed that he noticed anything, but I know he is uncomfortable when he is with my parents. He knows they are very snobbish about education and he never got through high school.

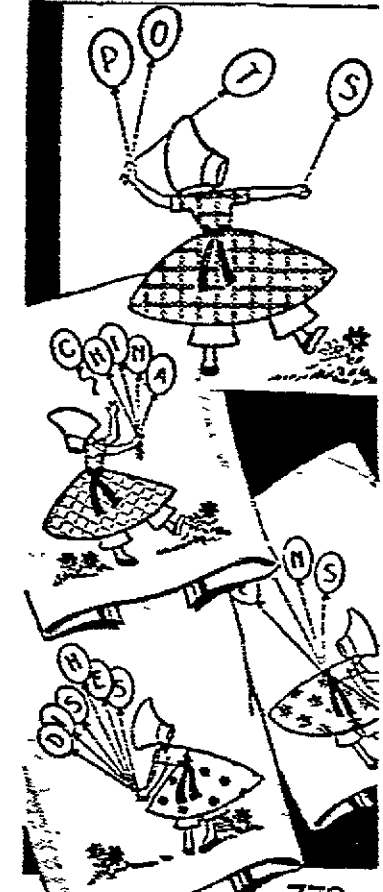

The Council: This painful situation will be alleviated when Louise herself fully accepts her husband and loves him as he is. She will then be mature enough to be indifferent to her parents' foolishly snobbish attitude—if, indeed, she is right in her interpretation of their position.

It is very possible that Louise now exaggerates her parents' attitude. Probably, they have long gotten over any disappointment they may have felt in her choice of a husband and sincerely want only her happiness and a warm relationship with her. The fact that they never raised any objection to the marriage is a fair indication that they are willing to welcome Ed into the family—if given a chance.

Louise overlooks the possibility that her own discomfort about her husband may have been transmitted to her parents in the early stages of this relationship. If she had shown she was happy and sure of her love, it is likely that her parents would have been more enthusiastic in their reception of Ed.

Louise should get over her own foolish snobbishness about her husband's lack of that high school diploma. This trivial issue stands in the way of her finding real happiness in her marriage, as well as a pleasant, loving relationship with her parents.

Cary Grant Leads List Of Ten Best-Dressed

BY JAMES BACON

Hollywood—Cary Grant, who admits he still wears a topcoat that he bought in 1935, today headed a list of Hollywood's best dressed men as voted by other male stars.

Sy Devore, famed movie stylist, polled some 300 actors after a reporter had long pressed him to name filmland's fanciest ten. He admittedly passed the buck for fear of slighting some good cash customers such as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Jeff Chandler and others who didn't make the list.

Besides Grant, the list is, in order, Jerry Lewis, Fred Astaire, Dean Martin, Bill Holden, Gary Cooper, Tony Curtis, Nat King Cole, David Niven and Clark Gable.

It's an honest count because Grant, Astaire, Cooper, Niven and Gable are not Devore clients.

"Tailor's Delight" The designed called Grant "a tailor's delight in casual clothes." Grant buys such expensive clothes that they never go out of style. That's why his 1935 topcoat is still as fashionable as its owner.

Lewis owns the biggest wardrobe by far. His closets currently have more than 300 suits including 17 new tuxedos at $285 apiece.

"Jerry sometimes gives a suit to a struggling actor after wearing it once or twice," Devore said. "I guess he just doesn't like cleaning bills."

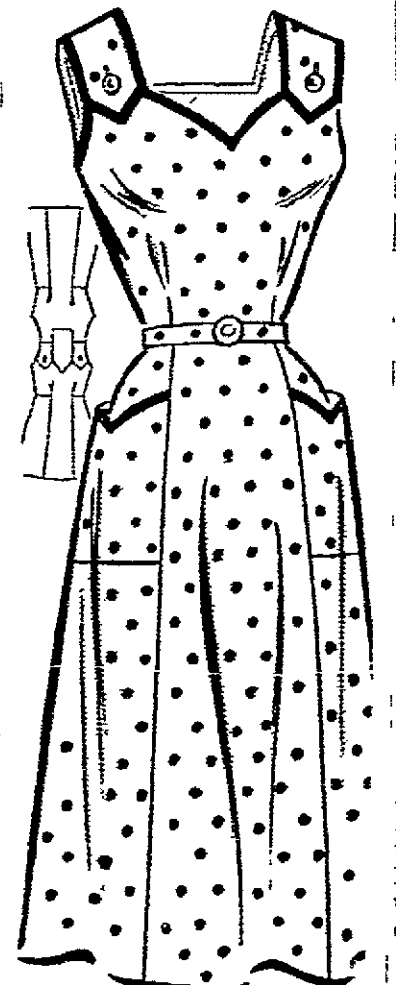

Devore described Holden as the least "actorish" in his dress.

"He dresses more like a Wall Street executive than a movie star the designer added. Of Martin, Devore said "his 41-inch shoulders and 32-inch waist give him the perfect figure for sport clothes."

Of Cooper: "his long, lean, lanky frame could make him the man to bring back the double breasted suit."

Of Curtis and Astaire: "Both

Property Rights Mean Little to Young Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Mrs. Fifer, Mother sent me over to return this shovel that Tommy picked up at your place. Please excuse him. He's an awful picker-upper."

"I understand. Tell your mother I have one just like him. We'll just have to keep an eye on them until they get over it. Thanks for the shovel. Tell your mother."

Timmy was 3 years old and as his big brother of 10 said "A great picker-upper." Little children do that often. They have no understanding of property rights. They have to be taught about it and the teaching is their mother's task.

Usually the little ones learn very fast that what is theirs is sacred to them and their playmates feel the same about theirs. It takes some children longer than others, but the usual one learns and keeps hands off others' belongings.

When To Worry

One does not worry about this phase of behavior in the little ones because it is soon corrected. If the picking up is continued on through the years up to the onset of adolescence, then there is something to worry about.

Ike Submits 4-Year Plan to Aid Education said, "The method of accomplishment is sound: The key-stone is state, local and private effort; the federal role is to assist—not to control or supplant—those efforts."

Emergency Role
He said that "for the increased support our educational system now requires, we must look primarily to citizens and parents acting in their own communities, school boards and city councils, teachers, principals, school superintendents, state boards of education and state legislatures, trustees and faculties of private institutions."

But because national security is involved, the federal government must play an emergency role, Eisenhower said. He emphasized that the administration program would be regarded as a temporary one "and should not be considered as a permanent federal responsibility."

The federal budget for the year which begins July 1 includes $225 million to finance the program during the first year of operation. Of that total, $145 million is earmarked for the health, education and welfare department, and about 80 million for the national science foundation.

Would Develop Talent
In his message dealing with the health, education and welfare department's share of the program, the president called for:

Steps to reduce what he termed a waste of talent among young Americans. Saying many students now drop out of high school and many others do not go on to college, Eisenhower recommended matching federal grants to states to improve testing programs to identify potential abilities of students at an early age; matching grants to bolster local counseling and guidance services, and a program of federal scholarships to able high school graduates who lack adequate financial means to go to college.

Federal money, to be matched by state grants to strengthen the teaching of science and mathematics. The funds would be used either to employ additional teachers to purchase laboratory equipment and other materials, to supplement teacher salaries, or for science and other related programs.

Steps to increase the supply of college teachers. Those would include granting of graduate fellowships to encourage more students to prepare for college teaching careers, and federal grants also on a matching basis to higher education institutions to aid in expansion of their graduate school capacity.

As for the National Science Foundation Eisenhower noted that the administration already has recommended in the budget for the next fiscal year a 5-fold increase in appropriations for the foundation's science education activities.

In this case, the federal government lost over $14,500 and this amount had to be made up by people who pay their fair share of the taxes.

Dairy Foundation Asks Co-Op Taxes

Industry Head Requests 'Even Break' in Competitive Market

BY FRANCIS MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington — The house ways and means committee was asked last week to change tax laws to provide equality between the small businessman and farmers' cooperatives.
Hubert Garrecht president of the Milk Industry foundation told the committee the foundation did not ask escape from federal taxes only an "even break in competition with co-operatives."
The foundation, claiming there are 326 dairy co-ops in Wisconsin summarized its position to the house tax-writing committee in five statements:
"1. We are faced with unfair competition due to the tax advantages enjoyed by dairy co-operatives in our market."

"2. We have no animus against cooperatives as such, believing that their original purpose filled a need by giving farmer-producers effective bargaining power."
"3. We emphatically subscribe to the principle that all individuals and corporate entities should help support the federal government."
"4. We believe that the original concept of co-ops as bargaining agents has been distorted and extended because of present tax exemption."
"5. We believe the acquisition of tax-paying organizations by cooperatives by means of their accumulation of cash surpluses should cease."

Dairy Owner
Garrecht read into the record a letter from George H. Stueber, Jr., Sueber Dairy company, Wausau, portions of which follow:
"The cooperatives entered the retail milk business in Wisconsin about five years ago with a base in DePere. At present they cover about a third of the state containing two-thirds the population. They have bought four independent dairies and are rumored to be purchasing a fifth."
"An operating statement from a local cooperative, not a dairy, shows it made a profit of $34,445 in 1952. On the statement is a provision for federal income taxes of $3,500. A private corporation in the same position would have federal taxes of about $18,000. In this case, the federal government lost over $14,500 and this amount had to be made up by people who pay their fair share of the taxes."

Approve Plan For Future Aims In Education

Committee Believes
In Widespread
College Opportunities

Madison — The state coordinating committee for higher education has given final approval to a statement of general planning principles for the future of publicly-supported higher education in Wisconsin.

The statement declared the need for better and more education for all citizens is heightened by civilization's increasing complexity, scientific and technological developments, and the nation's enlarging role in world affairs.

The 15 - member committee expressed the belief that educational opportunities beyond the high school "should be provided as widely over the state as is educationally and financially sound."

Dealing with the student's cost, the committee declared, "Tuition or fees at publicly supported institutions should not be used to control the size and character of their enrollments. The ratio of student fees and tuition to the cost of educating him should continue to be low."

Financial Aids
The committee called for increasing loans, work programs, and scholarships "to encourage and assist able and ambitious high school graduates who require financial assistance to continue their education to greater levels of competence and usefulness."

Other aims advocated by the group include: providing diversified types of higher education; strengthening of counseling and guidance services at all levels; and improving adult education programs. The group said, "Whatever its nature or purpose, an educational program should be maintained or established only when it provides an opportunity of high quality."

Continued citizen support of privately - supported colleges was recommended by the committee, citing the institutions' "valuable educational services to a significant share of Wisconsin's population."

The Law and You

Best to Put Agreements in Writing—but Read Them First

You've heard the old saying the agreement, the court will find that half a loaf is better than not even listen to your version none. But when it comes to the agreement. Thus, half a written contract, that isn't exactly true.

Oral contracts with some exceptions are perfectly enforce-able in court. You make many such contracts in your daily living. When you drive into a filling station and say "Fill 'er up!" you've made an oral contract obliging you to pay for the gasoline the attendant puts in your tank. Every auction re-sults in many oral contracts of sale. Millions of people are employed on oral contracts.

Writing Best
The trouble with an oral contract is the difficulty of proving its terms if a dispute arises. The court will listen to your version and then try to reach a decision.

It is best then to put a contract in writing. But here is the danger—be sure you put it all in writing. If the written contract does not contain all of the elements you believed to be in law.)

This is a Concrete Street...

It Is Built to LAST for 30 to 50 (or more) YEARS!!!!

It is built of the FINEST STREET paving material known...

YET ITS COST TO THE PROPERTY OWNER ON A RESIDENTIAL STREET IN APPLETON WOULD BE ONLY 60¢ PER FRONT FOOT MORE THAN ASPHALT MAT ON GRAVEL OR STONE!!!!

Thus for a little more a concrete residential street offers you the following:

LONGER LIFE — Records show that concrete lasts 2 to 3 times as long as asphalt mat on gravel or stone and 4 to 6 times "turnover and sealcoat" streets.

LOWEST MAINTENANCE — 1/5 to 1/8 that of other surfaces.

BETTER APPEARANCE, DRAINAGE, CLEANLINESS — No dust nor messy oil.

SAFETY — More skid resistant wet or dry. Better visibility at night.

IF YOUR STREET IS DUE FOR IMPROVEMENT — INVESTIGATE CONCRETE — YOU WILL FIND IT IS YOUR BEST BUY...

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Alfred Paulick, Jr., 25, Oshkosh, was arraigned before Municipal Judge S. J. Luchsing this morning on a charge of homicide by reckless conduct. Preliminary examination was set for Monday Feb. 3, and he was jailed in default of $2,500 bond.

Paulick was arrested in connection with the death early Friday of his stepdaughter, Joan 4, whom he admitted spanking. He told Oshkosh police she fell against the bathtub.

The child was taken to Mercy hospital here Thursday afternoon after she complained of abdominal pains. Paulick took her to a physician and the physician thought at first that it might be appendicitis. Examination at the hospital showed the girl was badly bruised.

The child was in a home in the state of New York until last March. The Oshkosh Apostolate had been making arrangements for a permanent foster home accident on E Wisconsin ave. for the child. The mother had agreed to terminate her rights to the child in favor of the state department of public welfare so the child could be placed in a permanent foster home. It was reported.

GO FER WHAT?

Most of the western states have names of Indian origin. Minnesota, for example, gets its name from the Minnesota river, which according to the Indian language means "sky-tinted water." Minnesota is said to be exactly in the center of North America and is often referred to as the "Land of 10,000 Lakes" or "the Gopher state."

When you're right in the middle of a budget problem, here's a suggestion you may really "go fer." Use the Post-Crescent Want-Ads to quickly sell, rent, or hire. Dial 2-4243 to start one of these helpful "Mighty Midgets" on its way.

Nicholson Chooses Baltimore's Offer

St. Louis 18-Year-Old to Get Bonus Check of Over $100,000

St. Louis—The Baltimore Orioles got Dave Nicholson in the latest battle of big league baseball's billboards.

For a week the lineup at the door of the 18-year-old outfield prospect looked like a roster of the majors' representatives.

Dave signed a Baltimore contract Sunday and tucked away a bonus check estimated at $110,000 or more.

Tigers Passed
During the week 15 teams went to the bidding block for the husky right-hand hitter. Only the Detroit Tigers passed.

The Nicholson family at the last minute called in a tax consultant to give an opinion on the offer with the most eventual value.

Mrs. Lucille Nicholson, the boy's mother, said the Orioles offer was not the biggest cash but it offered a greater opportunity.

'Best Future'
Dave said: "The Orioles offered the best future. I think I'll have a chance to reach the majors faster."

He will join the Orioles spring training camp at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Nicholson's playing experience is limited to high school ball and the Ban Johnson league, where 18 to 21-year-olds try to impress the big league scouts.

Nicholson's estimated $110,000 puts him up with another St. Louis boy for the tops in baseball bonus payments. Frank Baumann got about $125,000 from the Boston Red Sox in 1952.

Braves' Ticket Price Boosts To Bring in About $200,000

Milwaukee —The Milwaukee Braves, as expected, raised their 1958 ticket prices Saturday on all but bleacher seats, children's general admissions and ladies' day tickets.

Using last year's 2,215,404 attendance as a base, the price rise would bring in around $200,000 more—just about the amount of the Braves' rental increase at County stadium.

It was the second change in ticket prices since the Braves deserted Boston in 1953. The first came about after federal excise taxes were reduced from 20 per cent to 10 per cent in 1954. The following year, with the lowered federal tax still in effect, prices were restored to their original levels.

Here are the 1958 prices, with the increases:
Individual games: mezzanine box, $3.75, up 15 cents; upper box and lower box seat, $2.65, up 15 cents; lower grandstand reserved, $1.95, up 10 cents; upper grandstand reserved and general admission, $1.35, up 10 cents.

Bleacher seat tickets remain at 75 cents and children's general admission and ladies' day tickets for women stay at 50 cents.

Season: mezzanine box, $220, up $20; box seat, $165, up $15; lower grandstand reserved, $120, up $10; and upper grandstand reserved, $85, up $10.

Under the new price schedule, children's tickets will cost as follows:
Mezzanine box seat, $2.90;

Hawks Edge Rangers To Tighten NHL's Playoff Berth Fight
By The Associated Press
With Montreal running away from the pack, the National Hockey league today boils down to this:
A keen battle for playoff berths as eight points is the spread between runner-up New York and last place Chicago. Two sextets will be eliminated in this private 5-team race, the Canadiens already a playoff cinch.

The Hawks edged the Rangers, 4-3 Sunday night and moved to within four points of fifth-place Toronto. The Maple Leafs and the Boston Bruins tied, 3-3, while the third-place Detroit Red Wings turned back the Canadiens, 4-2, to climb within one point of New York.

St. Mary Boosts Record to 16-1

Scores Victories Over Pacelli And Premontre

The Appleton St. Mary freshman basketball team ran its season's record to 16-1 with a pair of weekend victories.

The Gene Clark-coached quintet whipped Stevens Point Pacelli, 54-38, here Sunday after rapping Premontre, 61-37. Friday night, Pete Treiber fired in 24 points to pace the Sunday win.

Al Vandenberg topped St. Mary's scoring against Premontre with 15 points, but the 'losers' Ehlinger took game honors with 17. Dick Zanzig and Treiber added 14 and 13, respectively, to the St. Mary cause.

The St. Mary eighth grade team won twice to boost its record to 9-0. Sunday, it edged St. John of Little Chute, 29-23, behind the 11-point scoring of Pete Zanzig and the floor play of Bill Dedecker. Prior to that the St. Mary eighth grade won, 44-22, over Menasha St. John, with Zanzig—a seventh grader—scoring 25 points.

Giants to Get Tigers' Finigan In Waiver Deal

Gail Harris and Virgil Slated To Go to Detroit

New York — The San Francisco Giants and Detroit Tigers marked time for waiver clearance today on the deal that would send first baseman Gail Harris and infielder Ossie Virgil to the Tigers for infielder Jim Finigan.

It was the only definite deal acknowledged in the weekend major league winter meetings.

Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants, who had said he was in the market for "an experienced outfielder" who could take some of the fielding burden off Willie Mays, said Finigan "definitely will stay with us." That removed Finigan, a third baseman-second baseman, from any part of any subsequent Giant deal for an outfielder.

The Tigers apparently were unable to get together on a deal with the Washington Senators—a club faced with the problem of dealing off Roy Sievers, the American league home run leader '42 and a drawing card, to get needed over-all strength.

The big surprise of the meeting was the National league's refusal to accept the proposed territorial rights plan.

Raiders Rally To Nip Ghosts

creased the margin to 31 to 21 at halftime. Brault hit 11 of his team's 12 points in the second period.

Lee Weyenberg. Gary Vanevenhoven and Walsh tallied most of Kaukauna's points in the second quarter after Bill Simon and Bill Borchardt had set the scoring pace for Kaukauna in the opening frame.

Kaukauna continued to command play in the third frame and midway through the period had increased its advantage to 14 points. Four baskets by Brault and three by Knope in the third frame enabled the Raiders to close the gap to 45-40 going into the final period.

Fouls Take Toll
The Raiders began using a full court press to open the second half and increased their efforts in the fourth frame with effective results. The Raiders frequently gained possession of the ball by virtue of the press and as the Ghosts battled to regain the ball, fouls ensued.

Vanevenhoven left the game on five personals with only 17 seconds elapsed in the fourth frame. Walsh left the game on five fouls two minutes into the period and Borchardt left the game with three minutes remaining in the period. Brault fouled out with two minutes in the period but he had wreaked his damage.

Two Rivers tied the count at 49-all after three minutes had elapsed in the fourth frame on a basket and two free throws by Brault and two free throws and a basket by Leon Gospodarek. Simon hit four straight charity tosses to push the Ghosts to a 53-49 advantage. Then the Raiders began to move.

Brault hit a jump shot from the side and Dale Koslowski tied the count on a set shot from side court. He was fouled in the act of shooting and dumped the free throw to give Two Rivers a 54 to 53 advantage, its first lead since the opening basket. Brault hit two more free throws to increase the lead to three points with less than three minutes remaining on the clock.

Simon tallied for Kaukauna and Weyenberg added two free throws to give Kaukauna a 57-56 edge but the Raiders came right back with a 4-point outburst on a basket by Wayne Markusen and two free throws by Brault. Dan Verbeten hit from the corner for Kaukauna and Simon sank two free throws to give Kaukauna a 61-60 lead with about 45 seconds remaining.

Buenzow then proved the hero of the game for the Raiders as they controlled the ball for the next 30 seconds and he dropped a long set shot from beyond the free throw circle. The teams battled for possession of the ball as time ran out on the clock before Kaukauna could retaliate.

Simon was high for Kaukauna with 16 points followed by Weyenberg with 14.

The Big Ten basketball race picks up steam this week with Cowles has seen all he wants a pair of games tonight and of Iowa's Clarence Wordlaw. The 6-2 junior rode the bench four more Saturday when the league - leading Michigan re-at Columbus tonight. Minnesota (1-3) invades Northwestern (2-3) in the only other game scheduled.

Both Minnesota and Northwestern are coming off Saturday losses. The Gophers dropped a 73-71 regionally-televised decision to Iowa and Northwestern was thumped by Michigan State, 74-60. The other team to see action was Illinois which took an 81-67 drubbing from Notre Dame.

Both losing coaches had plenty of praise for their opponents last Saturday. Northwestern's Bill Rohr — beaten twice in the span of a week by Michigan State — said the Spartans "should go on to win the Big Ten title."

Johnny Green, MSU's leading scorer, paced the Spartan attack with 22 points and again turned in a top-notch performance under the boards.

Platteville Five Tops Pointers

Oshkosh Gains Forfeit Victory Over UW-M

By The Associated Press
Platteville State, only undefeated basketball team in the State College conference, snatched its fifth league victory Saturday night, whipping Stevens Point, 87-76.

Dale Schroeder scored 33 points against the third-place Pointers, who suffered their second loss in six league games.

Second-place La Crosse State suffered its first loss in four league games Saturday night when Eau Claire quelled the Indians, 98-83. It was Eau Claire's second victory in five games. Bob Morgan led Eau Claire with 28 points.

River Falls and Stout wound up with identical 2-3 records when Stout downed the Falcons, 75-67, Saturday night. Oshkosh State won its second victory in five league starts Saturday night when it took a 74-66 forfeit decision over UW-Milwaukee.

Two minutes and 49 seconds remained in the game when the UW-M coach called his team off the court after arguing with officials. He offered to resume the game, but officials already had declared a forfeit.

The dispute concerned the question of which UW-M player should be charged with a foul.

Former Olympian Sverre Fredheim of Minneapolis won the veterans class and Gene Paul Winter Carnival champion.

Jerry Lewis of Duluth was second and Billy Olson of Eau Claire, third in the senior division.

Right on your own dashboard, you can see the difference a "hot spark" makes.

How A Keotane-Clean Engine Gives You A "Hotter Spark"

On a cold winter morning, the air is cold . . . your gasoline is cold . . . your engine is cold. It takes a hot, hot spark to get a fast, fast start. Keotane-Clean spark plugs give you instant "hot spark" starts!

COLD weather is hard on your engine. An engine that's dirty is even harder to start, warm up and smooth out. Spark plugs that are smothered with dirty carbon and lead deposits fire only a thin, weak spark.

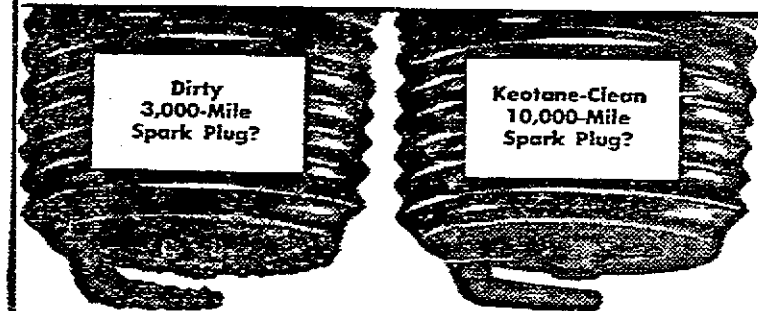

To get a fast start you need a hot spark. To get a hot spark you need clean spark plugs. To get clean spark plugs you need Keotane.

Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline dissolves gum in your engine as you drive — cleans off dirty carbon and lead deposits to get spark plugs Keotane-Clean. Keotane-Clean plugs deliver the instant hot spark you need to fire a cold mixture in a cold engine on a cold winter morning. In fact, it's almost like having someone go out and warm up your engine ahead of time.

But that isn't all! Keotane dissolves gum in the fuel pump and carburetor, on rings, valves and pistons. It gets your whole engine Keotane-Clean. A Keotane-Clean engine gives you a clean, hot spark. A clean, hot spark makes the difference in faster pickup, more mileage, a faster hot spark start. It's a wintertime bonus you get from Skelly Supreme with Keotane — the "hot spark" gasoline!

It's so easy to get spark plugs and other vital engine parts Keotane-Clean — and it costs you nothing extra. Just do all your driving with Skelly Supreme Gasoline. With Skelly Supreme in your tank and a Keotane-Clean engine under your hood, away you'll go — Keotane-Quick — morning after morning, all winter long. Keotane makes Skelly Supreme the only "hot spark" gasoline!

Which Gives The "Hottest" Spark?

In only 3,000 miles, even new spark plugs can build up heavy deposits of gum-stuck carbon and lead. This layer of unwanted "insulation" makes starting slow and agonizing — and wears down your battery.

The strong, "hot" spark you get from a Keotane-Clean plug quickly ignites even a cold mixture in a cold engine on a cold morning. You get Keotane-Clean "hot spark" starts — and save your battery!

wished he hadn't cut the half-dozen or so players.

"No," he said, "I don't think our 1957 record would have been better with them. We considered all the aspects of that situation very carefully before we did what we did."

The former member of Fordham's famed "Seven Blocks of Granite" line in the middle 1930s told the father-and-son group that "I will do nothing to impede football progress at Marquette. If I ever think that a better man can be found for my job I will leave."

"I feel reasonably confident that we can bring pride to Marquette," he asserted, "and hope that we can follow the Braves' lead in obtaining glory for Milwaukee."

The long-time assistant to the highly-successful Frank Leahy at Boston college and Notre Dame said that in MU's group of freshman gridders "we have the tools to aid the situation. The boys have ample size, and ability and they will provide more competition for the varsity jobs."

"Aggressive" Schedule Druze described the 1958 schedule as "aggressive" with such foes as Penn State, Texas Christian, the University of Wisconsin, Boston college and Detroit again carded.

The Warriors open with South Dakota State, which, Druze remarked, is looked upon by some as a good opportunity to break the club's long losing streak. "However," he asserted, "they've had a good team during the last few seasons."

The coach reviewed his problems in two seasons in Milwaukee and described how he reorganized the gridders' eating and living accommodations and established new rules of discipline. A result of the stricter policy, he recalled, was that a number of players left the squad during Druze's first season.

Recruiting is a big part of a coach's job, he remarked, and "it takes time to get boys who are right both scholastically and athletically."

"It is vitally important that you boys realize that education is important," Druze told the youngsters present. "Heed your dad's wishes when he tells you to stay away from television and to do your schoolwork. That will help you to be sound later in life."

The balding Druze, who is personable and athletic looking, said after his talk that his assistants watched several prep players from this area perform last season with the hope of attracting the boys to Marquette.

One youngster in whom Marquette is interested is Oshkosh High's all-conference fullback Paul Poeschl.

Druze was introduced by long-time friend Paul Morrissey, who served as toastmaster. Fred McKeen was chairman of the St. Mary program committee.

In thanking the group for inviting him to speak, Druze said "When you've lost 20 straight games, you're not much in demand as a public speaker. Therefore, I'm appreciative."

Al Spangler to Get a Shot At Braves' Center Field Job

Milwaukee — An unusual young man by the name of Al Spangler may start in center field for the world champion Milwaukee Braves this season even though he isn't on their 1958 roster.

Spangler, 24, has been in the army for the last two seasons and has never appeared in a major league game, but the Braves consider him a top-draw prospect.

"We have as high regard for him today as when we signed him at Duke university in 1954," Roland Hemond, the club's assistant farm director, said today.

Although he is the property of the Braves' Wichita, Kans., farm team in the American association, Spangler will train with the parent club this spring. He definitely is in the running for the center field job because of the dubious condition of Billy Bruton's injured knee.

17 Pitchers Listed
Spangler, a Philadelphia, is an excellent bunter—a quality infrequently found in a rookie. For another, he is a smart, daring baserunner maybe a shade slower than Bruton at his physical best.

"Spangler is a Richie Ashburn type hitter," said Hemond. "He hits to the opposite field and he has power for his size, about 175 pounds. He utilizes his speed well, is a great student of won the Helen Lee Doherty golf title over the weekend."

Dennis Weaver Plans Escape From Chester

BY JINGO

No law-breaker fallen into the capable hands of Deputy Sheriff Chester on the "Gunsmoke" TV series ever had as big a problem of escape as Dennis Weaver.

Weaver portrays Chester and has for three years. To most everybody, he is Chester—right down to the limp and Ozark accent. People believe that's the way he actually walks and talks.

But that isn't so. Weaver will prove it Thursday night in the "Climax" production of "Burst of Fire."

He'll be playing a lawman again, but that's where the similarity ends. He's a police lieutenant tracking down his own brother, a gunman and jewel thief.

Minus limp and drawl, he'll co-star with Sally Forrest, a Jingo favorite, Richard Garland and Joe Mantell.

Weaver was born in Joplin, Mo., the son of an electrician. He says he knew he wanted to be an actor from his first part in a high school play. He was an actor in junior college and studied drama at the University of Oklahoma and Actor's Studio, New York.

Weaver participated in summer stock, off-Broadway productions and landed a part in "Come Back, Little Sheba," with Shirley Booth. Shelley Winters, catching him in a scene at Actor's Studio, is credited with calling Hollywood's attention to him. He went to Hollywood under contract to Universal and remained to play in films and TV.

He's married, has two boys, 9 and 4 years old, and is a veteran of 27 months in the naval air corps.

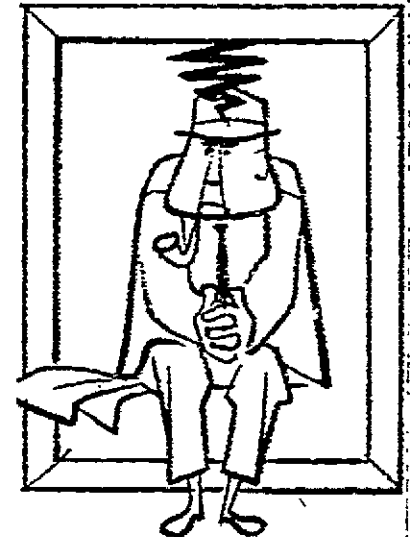

Jingo's Jewels: There's talk of a TV series starring Fernando Lamas and Jane Wyman. . . . Jonathan Winters has made the "Tonight" show on NBC-TV channels, really sparkle. He's much better in the informal format than Jack Paar, who's vacationing. You have this week to look in . . . "Hallmark Hall of Fame" wants Rosalind Russell for a TV remake of "Wonderful Town," her old Broadway hit.

"Matinee," the 5-day-a-week TV dramatic show, has three producers, 10 directors and 40 writers. . . . Watch for Ethel Barrymore on "Playhouse 90's" production of "The Story of Jesse James." . . . You may soon see Johnny Ray without the hearing aid. He underwent surgery. . . . Jimmy Durante may be back again with a TV series. . . . Bob Hope premieres his next movie, "Holiday in Paris," in May. . . . Rita Hayworth is filming "Separate Tables" for Hecht-Lancaster.

They're shooting a movie of "Playhouse 90's" play "The Last Man." . . . MGM has in the process a teleseries patterned after the Spencer Tracy, Elizabeth Taylor, Joan Bennett hit, "Father of the Bride."

Another switch: Desilu Productions will make a move of "The Lepke Story," tale of a gangster. Walter Winchell will furnish the story line. . . . Charlie Chaplin's anti-American film, "A King in New York," has paid for itself in French and German bookings.

NYC Shares Stand Shock

Rest of Market Mixed in Active Trading Today

New York — New York Central shares weathered the shock of board chairman Robert R. Young's suicide, and the rest of the stock market was mixed in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Airlines advanced. The rail section as a whole was a shade higher.

Prices of key stocks showed changes ranging generally from fractions to a point.

Airlines were boosted by news that the CAB offered what amounts to a 6.6 per cent passenger fare increase.

The market was irregular at the start. There was a temporary rush of orders which brought about a delay in the ticker tape for two minutes.

Eastern Air Lines, Capital Air Lines and United Air Lines all rose about a point. American Air Lines gained a major fraction.

Youngstown Sheet went ahead about two points. Wall Street experts said there was considerable short covering in the stock.

Green Bay Cheese

Green Bay — There was no activity Friday on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange. No offers or bids were made and there were no sales.

Vocations Centered About science and engineering were first choice for 29 per cent of young people polled in a national survey. The same survey indicates more girls than boys were included in the 25 per cent who plan medical or nursing careers and, the poll goes on, only 8 per cent of the boys and 2 per cent of the girls questioned would care to be president.

What Young People Think

Teens Would Rather be Scientists Than President, Youth Survey Shows

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles on teenage views, thoughts and actions. The author is president of Gilbert Youth Research company.)

BY EUGENE GILBERT

"If nominated, I shall not run; if elected, I shall not serve."

It doesn't take much interpretation of that statement to determine that Gen. William T. Sherman didn't want to be president either.

And it doesn't take much interpretation of our latest poll to determine that an amazing 52 per cent of the boys and 52 per cent of the girls said they didn't want to be president either.

The poll takers asked the young people flatly: "Would you like to be president of the United States?"

Only 8 per cent of the boys and 2 per cent of the girls said they would like to be president.

But here's a switch: 11 per cent of the boys and 25 per cent of the girls would be happy to have a son become president.

Most of the boys, however, saw the presidency in the same light as Robin Brown, 13, a of Kenilworth, Ill., touching all Hewlett, N. Y., high school freshman.

Rather Be Scientists "I can't see any young boy who'd like to become president with the problems and the world tension surrounding us today," he said. "It's just not science and engineering together scored a high of 29 per cent on the popularity list. One girl ever put the same idea in a lighter vein.

"Problems! Problems! Problems!" said Sarah, adding, "And I don't know how to play golf!"

If the great majority of young people don't want to be president, what do they want to be? We asked that question on another occasion and 55 per cent told us they plan to enter one of the professions—science or engineering, teaching, medicine, law and the like.

Two-thirds of these professionally minded young people said they want to serve mankind. At the same time, 52 per cent expressed the opinion that material rewards are higher in the professions than in other lines of work.

More Respected Perhaps it won't come as a great surprise to find the girls more influenced by service opportunities than boys. Five out of six girls said being of service is most important while only slightly more than half the boys gave the same answer.

"Professions allow you to serve the community, be independent and live comfortably," said Charles G. Sternwedel, 19, light as Robin Brown, 13, a of Kenilworth, Ill., touching all Hewlett, N. Y., high school freshman.

Professional men appear to be more respected than most," added 19-year-old Forrest T. Patterson of Burlington, N.C. Some of our viewers-with-world tension surrounding us today," he said. "It's just not science and engineering together scored a high of 29 per cent on the popularity list. One girl in eight has her eyes on science as a career.

Teaching and medicine, each with a 25 per cent rating, were other favorites.

Girls Like Teaching Generally, it was the girls who held teaching in the front rank. Only one out of 10 boys desire to be teachers while half the girls said they plan to enter the field.

It is interesting to note the desire to teach apparently rises in the young men as they grow older. Only 2 per cent of those 13 to 15 years of age call themselves prospective teachers. In the 16-and-over group, the figure is 15 per cent.

More girls than boys plan to enter the medical profession. Our figures for that category were: Girls, 30 per cent; boys, 11 per cent.

"Medicine is remunerative, respected and enjoyable," said Edward S. Beneville, 18, of Ithaca, N. Y.

"I like people and always want to help them," said Paula McAuley, a 16-year-old from New Rochelle, N.Y., who has nursing ambitions.

A career in law drew the nod from about one in 10 while less than 2 per cent told of plans to become clergymen. One in 10 said they plan professional careers but are not yet sure of their field.

Doctors Get Respect Except in the teaching field, the young people demonstrated their respect for the various professions is much greater than their ambition to enter them. This is particularly true in the clergy, law and medicine.

Against the less than 2 per cent who said they want to be clergymen, a whopping 45 per cent placed priests, ministers and rabbis on the list of the professional men they most respect.

"Clergymen are very happy, self-sacrificing people," said a 16-year-old girl. "They try to better humanity," added a 15-year-old.

Medical men and women are respected by 56 per cent and lawyers by 20 per cent. Science also drew a respectful 20 per cent and engineering 14 per cent.

Low in Esteem The teaching profession proved to be comparatively low in the esteem by the young people. Only one in four named it on his list of the most respected professions.

Youth's chief complaints against the professional people with whom it has the greatest contact seems to be a feeling that teachers lack respect for them.

What can the teachers do about it?

"Treat us like human beings," suggested a 15-year-old Brooklyn boy.

"If the teacher gave more respect to the students, they would get it in return," advised Oscar Hommel, 15, of Dallas.

A Massachusetts boy said he thinks "more firmness with the students" would earn respect for the teacher while a 17-year-old New Yorker recommended: "Give us less homework."
